Tories' Margin Sliced

Profumo Seat Held In U.K. Byelection

Times News Service

STRATFORD ON AVON, England—The ruling Conservative party retained war minister John Profumo's seat in the Stratford district byelection Thursday but the Tory margin was greatly reduced.

Conservative Angus Maude, 50, a journalist, was elected to fill the seat left vacant when Profumo resigned from the government after he disclosed to the House of Commons that he had lied about having an affair with call girl Christine Keeler.

Official figures announced today showed that Maude was elected with a majority of 3,470 votes compared with the whopping 14,129 majority Profumo gained in the 1959 general election.

Maude polled 15,846 votes compared with 12,376 for Labor candidate Andrew Faulds, 40, a bearded movie and TV actor, and 7,622 for Liberal candidate Derek Mirfin, 33, an editor.

Farmer Miles Blair of the British and Commonwealth Party received 281 votes and pop singer David Sutch, known as Screaming Lord Sutch, who ran on a national teen-agers ticket, was last with 209.

Blair, 53, is opposed to British participation in the Common Market.

In a two-way fight in 1959, Profumo got 26,146 votes to 12,017 for Labor candidate J. Stretton.

TRADITION ALTERED
The reduced Conservative majority in a traditional Tory district did nothing to boost the hopes of Prime Minister Macmillan's government in the next general election, scheduled before October, 1964.

The outcome turned the Stratford seat from a safe Conservative place to a marginal one. Faulds and Liberal party nominee Mirfin together outdistanced the Conservative winner by 4,512 votes.

The byelection in Shakespeare's birthplace brought out an unusually high vote for a byelection in the vacation month of August. Sixty-nine per cent of the 52,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

The showing of Liberal party candidate Mirfin cheered Liberal party ranks.

Political observers believe the Liberals picked up most of their strength at the expense of the Conservatives.

Some political analysts took the narrow Tory win to mean that the Macmillan government had not bounced back from the bad effects of Profumo's resignation June 5. Profumo had represented the Stratford constituency since 1950.

DROP 25 PER CENT
The Conservative vote dropped by almost 25 per cent compared with 1959—from 68.5 per cent to 43.62 per cent.

The Labor party vote rose by 2.57 per cent and the Liberals who had not contested the seat since 1950, polled 21 per cent.

After the election results were announced, Maude declared: "I am very happy. I think my supporters worked wonderfully."

"At a byelection in a three-cornered fight, the majority is bound to fall."

Maude, former editor of the Sydney Morning Herald in Australia, lost to the Labor candidate in a byelection in South Dorset last November. He was formerly a member of Parliament for the South Ealing constituency but resigned from Commons over the Suez crisis.

LOSER HAPPY
Losing Labor nominee Faulds told a crowd of 1,000 outside Stratford's town hall:

"The result, of course, is a numerical victory for Mr. Maude, but a moral victory for the Labor party. Of this there can be no possible shadow of a doubt."

The standing in the House of Commons:
Conservatives and allies, 362;
Labor, 256; Liberal, 7; vacant 5.

New Tax Equation Urged By Fulton

VANCOUVER (CP) — E. Davie Fulton, British Columbia Conservative leader, appeared before the Royal Commission on Taxation today with a plea for a "new equation" to enable the three levels of government to stand on their own financial feet.

His last minute brief was presented because of "the regrettable refusal of the provincial government to present the case for the B.C. taxpayer."

Escapes Bullets
SEATTLE (AP) — Bob Hardwick, radio disc jockey who drives a hearse and asks questions about organized crime, escaped injury Friday night as two bullets crashed close to him. One bullet, apparently from a rifle, shattered the windshield of the radio man's vehicle and a second glanced off the roof.

Skopje Shaken Again
BELGRADE (AP) — A new strong quake hit Skopje early today exactly three weeks after the ancient Macedonian capital was destroyed by a catastrophic earthquake, Belgrade radio said.

The broadcast said the population fled tents in panic but no report on damages has been received.

Red Word Rejected
LONDON (Reuters) — Britain today refused to accept Soviet notification that East Germany has signed the partial nuclear test-ban treaty, an authoritative source here said today.

Martial Law Follows Fifth Ritual Suicide

Viet Nam Tension At Highest Pitch

(CP from AP-Reuters)

SAIGON, South Viet Nam—President Ngo Dinh Diem's government clamped martial law on two major Vietnamese cities today in the wake of another Buddhist suicide by fire—the third this week.

Martial law was imposed on the central Viet Nam capital of Hue, where the latest burning occurred early today, and on the coastal city of Nhatrang, where Vietnamese troops quelled a big demonstration with tear gas.

All Vietnamese in Hue except civil servants and troops were ordered to stay indoors.

Tension reached a new pitch when a 71-year-old Buddhist monk, Thich Tieu Dieu, burned himself to death at 4 a.m. in Hue's biggest pagoda. It was the fifth such ritual suicide in two months in the Buddhist campaign against the government of Diem, a Roman Catholic.

Several hundred government troops ringed the Tu Dam pagoda but did not try to enter the building, where Buddhists guarded the monk's body.

SUICIDE ORGANIZED
The burning apparently was organized by the Buddhist hierarchy. Two young Buddhists who burned themselves to death this week acted independently.

The old monk announced over a loudspeaker from his pagoda Thursday night that he would commit suicide in support of Buddhist demands for civil and religious rights they claim are denied them by Diem.

Tieu Dieu also said his suicide was in protest against charges leveled against the Buddhists by Diem's politically powerful sister-in-law, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Mrs. Nhu has said repeatedly that dissident Buddhists are traitors masking under religious robes. She advocates that the government use force against them.

The Nhatrang demonstration erupted in protest against the suicide Thursday of a 29-year-old nun, Dien Hien. Several thousand Buddhists gathered in front of the railway station.

Two hundred soldiers drove to the scene in fire trucks.

The latest suicides came as U.S. Ambassador Frederick Nolting Jr. left his difficult post in Saigon where he was stationed for two years.

Some observers said his remarks on departure underlined indications of a distinct cooling in the American attitude toward the Diem regime in recent weeks.

Nothing in an airport statement—said the religious dispute should be solved as quickly as possible.

He did not mention Diem by name in the statement.

ROBBERY SUSPECTS COVER UP

Hooded Group Charged In Great Train Robbery

Times News Services

LINSLADE, Eng.—Five hooded figures were hustled into a small country courthouse in this tiny Buckinghamshire village today and formally charged with taking part in Britain's great train robbery or receiving part of the millions of pounds in loot.

One of the men charged with robbery, William Boal, denied the charges. But a detective told the court that Boal had told him during questioning: "I am silly to get involved with this. I should have known better."

The five suspects—William and Rene Boal, Alfred and Mary Pilgrim and Roger John Cordrey—appeared before a magistrate in this town of 2,372 persons 42 miles northwest of London. It lies four miles from Cheddington, where a gang of bandits ambushed the night mail train from Glasgow eight days ago and escaped with £2,600,000 ($7,800,000) in British currency.

The three men and two women were ordered held by the police until Aug. 24 while the nationwide hunt continued for cash and confederates.

The amount of the money recovered rose today, with a police announcement that it totaled £141,000 ($423,000).

WIDOW, FARMER DREAM OF RICHES

LONDON (AP)—A woman in hiding and a farmhand have stepped in line for the staggering £260,000 ($780,000) in reward money offered in Britain's great mail train robbery.

Even a 50-per-cent cut would mean riches beyond their wildest dreams. For they are ordinary people pulled into the centre of the cops and robbers drama by twists of fortune.

The only exceptional thing about Mrs. Emily Clark and John Maris is that they know better than most how to use their eyes and ears.

Mrs. Clark, a 57-year-old widow, lives on a quiet residential street in the south coast town of Bournemouth. She grows roses in her front yard and has the reputation of being quiet and courteous.

Warheads Due By End of Year

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Canada and the United States today entered an agreement under which U.S. nuclear weapons will be made available to Canadian forces.

The agreement was made through an exchange of notes at approximately 11 a.m. Signing for Canada was External Affairs Minister Paul Martin; U.S. signatory was U.S. Ambassador to Canada W. Walton Butterworth.

One more step—arranging of a detailed technical agreement—is necessary before the warheads will be made available to Canadian forces under North American Air Defence Command in Canada and under North Atlantic Treaty Organization Command in Europe.

It is expected the final arrangements will be completed and the weapons supplied by year's end, although Prime Minister Pearson, in making his historic announcement, refused to be pinned down to any specific period.

Today's agreement outlines the principles under which Canadian forces would have access to American nuclear warheads in event of an outbreak of hostilities. Actual terms spelling out technical arrangements for handling and controlling the warheads would be incorporated in the technical agreement, which already is being worked on by Canadian and U.S. military officials.

'HOT LINE' NEEDED
The agreement, Mr. Pearson disclosed at a press conference held immediately after release of his agreement announcement, would necessitate establishment of a "hot line" communications link between himself and President Kennedy.

This was because the nuclear agreement will provide for joint U.S.-Canada control over the warheads—no use could be made of the warheads stockpiled in Canada or at Canadian bases abroad without express approval of both U.S. and Canadian governments.

In an emergency such approval or denial of approval—would have to be forthcoming without delay, Mr. Pearson pointed out to reporters who crowded the conference room.

LONG NEGOTIATIONS
Mr. Pearson's announcement ended three years of negotiations which were started by the former Diefenbaker government—a point which the announcement made clear at the outset.

And in his press conference the prime minister again asserted that his government, in reaching the nuclear agreement, simply was carrying out a commitment which had been made but not filled by the previous government—a lack which led directly to the "downfall of the Diefenbaker regime."

Mr. Pearson's announcement said: "The weapons systems affected are the Bomarc 'B'; the Voodoo interceptor; the Honest John artillery rocket and the CF-104 Starfighter strike-reconnaissance aircraft."

"In accordance with the requirements of national security and with NATO practice, details (of the agreement) will not be published.

The arrangements relating to custody and control satisfactorily protect Canada's national interests and conform with the position Canada has taken internationally on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons.

U.S. CUSTODY
"When the stockpiles are established, the warheads will remain in United States custody, and for this purpose small units of United States custodial personnel will be stationed at the Canadian storage sites, at bases which will of course remain under Canadian command and control.

"With custody remaining with the United States, the arrangement does not add to the numbers of governments having nuclear weapons at their independent disposal.

"It is also to be noted that provision is made for the application at all times of the most stringent safety measures.

Finally, these nuclear warheads cannot be used operationally without the authorization of the Canadian government. Joint control is thus assured."

Of the weapons systems mentioned, the Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles are stationed at two bases, La Macaza, Quebec, and North Bay, Ontario, the Voodoo interceptors are on five bases across Canada, and the Honest John rocket and Starfighters are stationed in Europe.

13 Rioters Arrested In Sarawak
KUCHING, Sarawak (Reuters) — Thirteen persons were arrested and several others injured today during anti-Malaysia demonstrations when a United Nations "assessment" team arrived.

A spokesman said 11 persons were arrested on charges of obstruction in the demonstrations, staged as members of the UN mission drove from the airport to the city.

The team is here to make a survey of the attitude of the people of Sarawak and North Borneo to the proposed Malaysia federation.

Two others were arrested earlier on obstruction charges seven miles outside Kuching, the police spokesman said. A number of others also were arrested—but were later released.

AIRPORT CLEAR
A police riot squad kept the airport area clear but between 3,000 and 5,000 persons gathered in small groups along the road.

The riot squad, carrying clubs and shields, stood shoulder to shoulder at one point.

Ottawa Kills Moore Plan
OTTAWA—Health and welfare department says if Mayor Moore of Courtenay wishes to put people on city park payroll, he can't use federal funds to pay them.

The federal part of the aid (50% of social assistance) is for the unemployed.

If the city gives them jobs then, says Ottawa, they don't qualify for Ottawa aid.

Health and welfare officials say it boils down to the way the local community wants to treat its work force; if the community wants to provide jobs, there is no Ottawa contribution towards payroll costs—except when approved winter works projects are concerned, which is not now.

AFTER 64 YEARS WORK IN CANADIAN NORTH

Longest Visibly Marked Boundary

By IRA DRYSDALE

WINNIPEG (CP)—A ceremony Thursday at a desolate spot in the Canadian north marked the completion of a survey that took 64 years to complete.

After 25 federal, Saskatchewan and Manitoba government officials flew to the spot 725 miles northwest of here and 500 miles northeast of Saskatoon where the two provinces and the Northwest Territories boundaries meet.

There on a carpet of muskeg, surrounded by spike-like black spruce trees, the group paid tribute to the surveyors and axemen who slashed out the principle boundaries of the north.

The 60th parallel dividing the western provinces from the Northwest Territories runs 1,500 miles from the Hudson Bay shore to the Alaska-Canada border. It is the longest visibly marked parallel of latitude in the world.

The ceremony had additional significance for Manitoba and Saskatchewan. They were honoring the completion of border-cutting along the northern third of their mutual boundary as well as along their northern borders.

The survey of the 60th parallel started in 1899 to settle jurisdiction arising from questions during the Yukon gold rush. In the nine years that followed 165 miles of the line was marked between British Columbia and the Yukon territory.

The erection last year of an aluminum monument on a pile of rock at the place visited Thursday marked its completion.

Into this monument went objects from both provinces and the federal government. Among them were letters from Prime Minister Pearson, Premier Lloyd of Saskatchewan and C. H. Whitney, Manitoba mines and resources minister.

These were addressed to their counterparts 100 years hence. The monument is to be opened then.

W. M. Benedickson, federal minister of mines, said during the ceremony: "This land we stand on contains untold wealth... and in time this wilderness will become populated and productive to our people."

Eiling Kramer, Saskatchewan's resources minister, suggested the establishment of the provinces boundaries on the ground means that mineral, hydro, forest, fish and tourist resources may be developed without uncertainty.

Mr. Whitney predicted that in 100 years there will be railways, roads, towns and men and women at work in the area.

Doggone it, jist as we git th' Bomb ever'body's gone an' turned friendly.

Mebbe thet emergency military circuit from Pearson t' Kennedy c'd hev a branch line t' th' U.S. tariff board.

Wonder if it wuz thet B.C. Lions trainin' camp at Courtenay thet started all this work-fer-whut-y'git bizness.

ROBERTS CALLS ELECTION IN ONTARIO FOR SEPT. 25

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Robert's today called an Ontario election for Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The premier made the long-awaited announcement at a Queen's Park press conference, during which Lieutenant-Governor Earl Rowe signed a writ formally dissolving the 26th Ontario Legislature.

The premier told reporters that with important federal-provincial conferences ahead "it is imperative that we be left in no doubt that we speak for the people of Ontario."

The Progressive Conservative government's formal term would have come to an automatic end next June if allowed to run its full course.

BARHAM, Eng.—The organizers of an annual beauty show decided today to judge dogs instead of girls.

"Of course," said Mrs. Alice Heritage, "our young ladies are very lovely, but they simply will not come forward and enter the contest."

Mrs. Heritage is chairman of the annual beauty contest, to be held next week. In the last three years a total of only seven girls entered the contest.

The winning dog will receive the same sort of cup previously awarded to beauty queens.

Dogs of both sexes may compete.

ZOMBA, Nyasaland—Parliament enacted today a bill requiring motorists to clear the roads for the car of Dr. Hastings Banda, prime minister of this new African nation. All oncoming traffic must stop when his car appears. Motorists going the same way are forbidden to pass him.

DENVER, Colo.—Leslie O. Van Natter, a Denver bus mechanic, gave his 101st pint of blood recently, officials at Bonfils Memorial Blood Bank reported.

Van Natter gave his first pint of blood to the Red Cross in 1943. When he was asked why he'd given so much blood—enough to fill the circulatory systems of seven adults—Van Natter said: "No special reason. It was the only thing I had plenty of."

ABERDEEN, S.D.—An 11-year-old boy used a tractor Thursday to remove a large hydraulic prong from his chest.

Eugene Hart was driving a tractor pulling another tractor which had a haystacker line attached in front. When he stopped the tractor suddenly, the second machine lurched forward and the line speared him, entering through his back and going out through his chest, missing his heart and lungs.

His mother, Mrs. Everett Hart, said the boy put the tractor in gear and drove forward, withdrawing the steel line.

"He didn't even cry," she said.

Eugene is recovering in hospital.

LOS ANGELES—A woman, tarred and feathered and left in a burning house, Thursday told sheriff's deputies the incident was a hoax that backfired—literally.

Mrs. Katherine Harwell, in general hospital for treatment of severe burns on her torso, face and hands, implicated Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, property owners in the suburban city of Walnut.

Deputies picked up the Lewis couple and questioned them. But there was no clear explanation for the reason behind the hoax—other than that it was planned to "stir up a racial incident." Mrs. Harwell said she permitted the Lewis couple to apply tar and feathers to her body.

Firemen rescued Mrs. Harwell from the burning house in Walnut Tuesday night.

She told investigators three white men had burst into the house, applied tar and feathers, bound her and set the place ablaze.

U.S. Prepared to Accept K's Inspection Formula

GENEVA (AP)—The United States said today it is prepared to accept Premier Khrushchev's proposal for ground observation posts on both sides of the Iron Curtain to guard against surprise nuclear attack.

U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stille called on the Soviet delegate at the 17-nation disarmament talks to elaborate on the proposal in order that agreement could be worked out on the operation of such a system.

Stille stressed that the United States would not insist on its proposed addition safety measures linked to a ground observation, mobile ground observation teams and overlapping radars.

The Greater Victoria United Appeal drive reached a new plateau of responsibility Thursday with an announcement that the 1963 community collection goal is $400,000.

Campaign chairman John Wallace said this target surpasses last year's goal by $40,000. And it surpasses last year's collections by almost $50,000.

The drive opens Sept. 26 and extends throughout October. Mr. Wallace announced that the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded has been admitted as the 24th member of the Community Chest.

"This is the eighth community agency which has been taken into chest membership in the past eight years," he said.

"It means there will be one less fund campaign in this district in future and less funds diverted to the costs of public subscriptions."

He stressed that $400,000 is the absolute minimum required as operating capital for the 24 agencies.

"Each budget received a month of intense investigation before it was accepted," he said.

Reasons given for raising the target to $400,000 are:

1. The Greater Victoria is a rapidly growing community. This accounts for 5 per cent of the increase.
 2. Past campaign failures mean agencies had to work on insufficient funds, plus rising costs—5 per cent.
 3. Admission of Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded accounts for 4 per cent of the total increase of 14 per cent.
- Mr. Wallace pointed out that the $400,000 total represents a contribution of $2.77 per capita in Greater Victoria.

OTHER CITIES GIVE MORE

Mr. Wallace said Victoria community giving is "badly out of line" with other cities in Canada. Where Victorians gave $2.43 per capita last year, other cities gave more than $3 a head.

Victoria did not reach its full goal of $360,000 in 1962. The amount raised was $350,446.

"We are better organized now and we must go all out for $400,000," Mr. Wallace said.

Specifically the $400,000 is needed to enable the 24 United Appeal agencies to:

- Assist and train the blind; nurse the sick; rehabilitate the handicapped; counsel the family in trouble; protect children from neglect and abuse; re-establish the offender; provide guidance, counselling and recreation for youth; provide advice, assistance and recreation to senior citizens; provide other vital services.

... REWARD

Mr. Maris, 33, has worked most of his life on the land and is married with two young children, a son and a daughter. He rarely wears a necktie, goes to work with the dawn and has never thought of riches beyond playing the football pools.

But his tip put police on to the farm hideout used by the bandits after they plundered the night mail train from Glasgow of more than $7,500,000 worth of British currency eight days ago.

Mrs. Clark, a compact little woman and a neat dresser, works in a canteen to pay for her modish clothes and the special sprays she lavishes on her flowers. Between her rose beds, two men walked down her garden path Wednesday night and asked to rent her garage.

Mrs. Clark didn't like the look of them. When they closed the deal by putting down three months' rent in advance, she really got suspicious. Her telephone call brought policemen running.

The widow went into hiding, fearful of reprisals.

Said John Maris: "I'm hoping ... but nobody has mentioned the reward yet."

... ROBBERY

"In that case," she said, "I have it here."

After she produced the money, Hensley asked Pilgrim if he was present when it was delivered.

"No," he replied. "But I saw it shortly afterwards. I told her to put it away."

FOUND SUITCASES

This morning, two suitcases stuffed with money were found in a wood southwest of London.

Police and detectives hurried to Redlands wood near Dorking, 24 miles from London, after a couple reported finding the bags and a locked briefcase.

Officially, police said no further arrests were imminent. But there was reason to believe the net was tightening.

New President In Riot-Hit African State

BRAZZAVILLE (AP)—The army today announced the appointment of Alphonse Massamba-Debat, 42, a former school teacher, as provisional president of the Congo Republic.

Massamba-Debat, described by friends as a moderate leftist, succeeds Fulbert Youlou, the republic's only president since it gained independence from France three years ago. Youlou resigned Thursday and turned the government over to the army after rioting and mounting charges of corruption and high living against him and his ministers.

Massamba-Debat also will hold the post of minister of defence.

The army also announced it was dissolving the National Assembly. It said seven technicians will serve as ministers in the provisional government.

GRANT AMNESTY

The general amnesty was announced for political prisoners jailed before Thursday. A mob of striking union workers broke open the Brazzaville jail Tuesday and turned loose all 480 prisoners, including common criminals.

By early today, the city had returned to normal and striking workers returned to their jobs. Massamba-Debat, a member of the Lari tribe like Youlou, is a former member of the assembly. He was Youlou's minister of state in 1961 and then minister of development until June, 1963.

No trade unionist or labor leader was named on Massamba-Debat's seven-man cabinet, although it was pressure from the workers which forced Youlou to resign.

Plea of Not Guilty In Huge Ore Theft

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—$200,000 was confiscated at the Gerald Henry Priest, 35, smelter by police after United Keno lodged a complaint about theft and elected trial by judge and jury when he appeared Thursday before Magistrate A. C. L. Adams in Whitehorse.

Priest, a former assayer for United Keno Hill Mines Limited, was charged after a mystery shipment of lead and silver concentrates and lead-silver ore was shipped to a smelter at Helena, Mont., two months ago from Elsa, Y.T., 220 miles north of Whitehorse.

The shipment, estimated to be worth between $100,000 and $200,000, was confiscated at the smelter.

Magistrate Adams remanded Priest for preliminary hearing in Whitehorse Sept. 23 and allowed bail.

Novel Tax Plan Presented Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—In one of the most novel submissions made to the royal commission on taxation, a Vancouver doctor Thursday proposed a new tax formula that would, in effect, change income tax to a consumer spending tax and give the government a tight, controlling grip on the economy.

Dr. E. F. Weir, who said he had submitted his proposal at various times to former finance minister Fleming, former prime minister Diefenbaker and James E. Coyne, former Bank of Canada governor, said that only the portion of money spent by a taxpayer should be taxed.

Under his formula, all money placed in government-approved investments—and this would include bank deposits—would be tax-free. On top of this, the basic exemption for all individuals would be $1,500, giving a man with a wife and two children an exemption of $6,000.

Beyond this, the taxpayer would run into a stiff income tax, starting at a suggested 50 per cent.

Dr. Weir said his basic exemptions would allow everyone to pay for the necessities of life on a tax-free basis. It would allow them to invest any money they could on a tax-free basis, and then it would nail them on any money they spent above this. This, in effect, amounted to heavy tax on luxury spending, he said.

ONLY FAIR METHOD

He told the six-member royal commission, this is the only fair method of taxing people. It wasn't fair to tax earnings, and straight sales taxes are unfair because they don't fall equally on all commodities.

Commission chairman Kenneth Carter said Dr. Weir's recommendations would result in a "drastic" shift of the tax load. But it would be fully studied.

Dr. Weir said it isn't right to tax the necessities of life, but there is no method to avoid it under normal sales taxes.

"One modest home is a necessity and should not be taxed; three extravagant homes are a luxury and should be taxed; but what tax can differentiate between them?"

BOOST ECONOMY

Under his plan, he said the economy would get a boost because of increased investment, and the government could control the economy by juggling the tax rate.

A consumer tax would act as an effective check on the velocity of spending, he said. "It

Lone Plane Hits Cuban Sugar Mill

Attack Bomber Not Identified

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One unidentified plane bombed and strafed a Cuban sugar mill Thursday and another attacked a refinery at Havana early today, the Cuban radio reported.

Anti-aircraft batteries went into action today when a plane flew over the Nico Lopez refinery in Havana Bay, formerly the U.S. Esso refinery. The plant was nationalized by the Castro regime in 1960.

The broadcast said heavy anti-aircraft fire forced the plane to change its course away from Cuba. Its nationality was not reported.

DROPPED BOMBS

Another broadcast, quoting an armed forces ministry communiqué, said a small "private" plane attacked the Bolivia Sugar Mill in Camaguey province at 4:05 a.m. Thursday, strafing it and dropping two 50-pound bombs from an altitude between 450 and 600 feet.

Only one of the bombs exploded, the report said, and it did no damage. The plane flew northward after completing its mission.

The sugar mill is located at Moron, in an area where some guerrilla activity has been reported.

"This new aggression," the communiqué said, "unveils once more the plans being hatched by the imperialist government of the United States against our people."

Brief Reprieve

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT is wise to take its time in dismantling the maritime dictatorship of Hal Banks and his International Seafarers Union. For the plan to establish a state trusteeship over this and four other Great Lakes unions is simple in intent but highly complex in law. As British Columbia has discovered recently, the infringement of the constitution can be a costly business.

But Mr. Alan McEachen, minister of labor, promises that if more violence should occur in the Great Lakes shipping system Parliament will be recalled at once to establish a union trusteeship by statute.

A special session of Parliament seems unlikely, unless Mr. Banks is foolish enough to precipitate another emergency before the regular session called for the end of September. Meanwhile the government is drafting the legislation of a unique experiment with little or no experience to guide it.

The surprising thing is not that the trusteeship has been delayed for a few weeks but that hardly anyone except Mr. Banks appears to question this drastic policy.

Mr. T. C. Douglas, for example, cannot be considered an enemy of the labor movement but claims to be its greatest champion. Yet he criticizes the government for moving too slowly in the liquidation of the Banks dictatorship. Before the trusteeship is set up, Mr. Douglas fears,

Mr. Banks may "misuse" the funds of the SIU for his own purposes.

Moreover, the four other unions on the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes seem to approve the government's plan and, in general, the report of Mr. Justice Norris who proposed a trusteeship in the first place.

The labor movement understands that a virtually unanimous Parliament has no intention of coercing it but proposes to free the maritime workers from a racket which had destroyed their democratic rights. The trusteeship, it is hoped, will restore them and, as an essential first step, will make sure that Mr. Banks is removed. Whether he should also be personally prosecuted is now being studied by government lawyers, as recommended by Mr. Justice Norris.

The most satisfactory fact in a most unsatisfactory situation is that the solution of the maritime unions' trouble has been removed entirely from partisan politics and that the labor movement as a whole has taken a sane and constructive attitude.

It rightly seems to recognize Mr. Banks and his empire as the enemy of the working people. It is willing to accept the intervention of the state, for the time being, as necessary to its own future welfare as it surely is necessary to the welfare of the nation. The good sense of Canadian labor leaders deserves full recognition by the public.

Ninety Days . . .

MOUNTING UNITED NATIONS resentment against South Africa's policy of racial apartheid is given point by the stories of two refugees from that country who have just arrived in Britain. They tell of the operations of the new "90-day rule" whereby persons can be held incommunicado by police without formal charges or court appearance.

Designed as a weapon against opponents of the government's policy the measure is proving an even more reprehensible weapon than the social ostracism imposed as a punishment. In the latter case a person is confined to his or her home, forbidden to visit or be visited, or to take part in any community activities. The harrowing ordeal may be imposed for months at a time for little more than suspicion. But at least this penalty is the result of court action; the 90-day rule has much darker significance.

In the first place, the 90-day tag means little. The two exiles quote the South African minister of justice who has warned that if necessary under this law he would hold prisoners "this side of eternity." More than one prisoner has been released at the end of 90 days of interrogation and rearrested the moment he stepped outside the police station.

Mr. Levy and Mr. Kodesh relate how they were offered their choice: reveal the names of other opponents of the government, go into exile, or stay in prison "indefinitely." After lengthy imprisonment they chose exile and were bundled out of the country with only a suitcase that friends were able to pack for them.

The system of arbitrary arrest has been condemned by the International Commission of Jurists at Geneva, which said the law left justice "blind and maimed." The Johannesburg Bar Council saw it as "virtual abrogation of the rule of law." The U.N. Security Council, under Afro-Asian prodding, has seen the legislation as an infringement of the basic liberty of man which has been built up so painfully over the centuries. How can South Africa defend it other than as an injustice imposed to silence opposition to still further injustice?

Facts of Life

SCHOOL TRUSTEES OF Greater Victoria have previewed a film on sex education and, in informal discussion, have spoken in its favor.

This non-official approval of a controversial course was, understandably, hedged by warnings that it should receive the blessings of the clergy before any action was taken by the board. This is the type of protection trustees desire to safeguard themselves against attack by any group whose religious sensitivities might be injured.

When they next consider the matter the board members could profitably investigate the manner in which such a course was conducted in Oak Bay before the amalgamation of the school district.

The pilot course there was generally praised and enjoyed the confidence of parents and educators alike.

It is reasonable to assume that improvements in the teaching of this subject have been made since the earlier course, dropped about the time the greater school district was created.

The common sense of providing such instruction for children of a selected age is obvious. Under any circumstances, they are going to acquire some information on the subject—very often in an unsavory way.

Why not see to it that they are given an approach which is unsensational, wholesome and informed?

The Importance of Being 'Mr.'

ANTHONY WEDGWOOD BENN is plain "Mr." again and likes it. His fight to avoid translation to the peerage on the death of his titled father has been won. He reverts to the status he wanted so that he may again seek a seat in the House of Commons, no longer forbidden by the encumbrance of a title.

This is a pleasant and interesting story of the man who declined titular privilege for what he considered the greater privilege of pursuing a political career in the more important of the two legislative houses in Britain.

But the act which permitted him to submit an "instrument of disclaimer" and shed the formal title he received from his father still leaves a question in some minds. Mr. Anthony Wedgwood Benn, now seeking return to the Commons where his promising start in political life was interrupted, is still the same person who, by the laws of inheritance had been briefly Lord Stansgate.

Doffing a title does not make him a more competent or less competent person, except in the legal sense. And among the peers are notable figures who contribute greatly to the political life of Britain without being able to take a seat in the Commons.

Now that Mr. Benn has won his fight, at the sacrifice of a peerage, how long will it be before a more lenient position is taken in Britain to extend to the peers in general the right to contest seats in the lower house without necessarily abandoning the titles if they are fond of them?

The original establishment of the Lords as one branch of government is understandable in the history of the nation. But hasn't history outpaced the legal ruling? Haven't some highly competent Lords, serving the state in different capacities, earned for their class consideration in this matter if they are able enough to be elected?

"Don't worry about me, sir . . . I'm used to getting in over my head . . .!"

Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

O Solitude, Where Are the Charms?

FAR from the madding crowd of Anglo-Saxons and Russians signing their nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow the other day, the President of France was relaxing in splendid isolation—physical as well as political—at his country home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises east of Paris.

Isolation, however, is a familiar, historic, and sometimes heroic posture for the tall, austere, and imperious Charles de Gaulle. He is not only used to standing alone. He prefers it, plans it, manoeuvres it, strives for it. For de Gaulle the word is not "isolation" but "independence." A position which other diplomats and politicians may regard as negative, regretful, and weak simply looks to the General himself as a position of strength.

Self-Isolation

It is ironic that, while complaining forever about the exclusion of France from Yalta and Potsdam, de Gaulle should now be isolating himself from what looks to be the beginning of a new and historic East-West dialogue. As his recent press conference showed so amply, de Gaulle himself is fully aware of the "breakthrough" political implications of the Moscow test ban treaty. But his only contributions so far have been purely negative: a refusal to join in either the nuclear agreement or any non-aggression declaration, and a warning to his allies and to the rest of Europe to be wary of Anglo-Saxon deals which "might once again commit Europe's fate."

Nevertheless, Gen. de Gaulle has made so much history in the past from positions of lonely and splendid isolation that it is difficult to indeed dangerous to write him out of the picture. It is even more difficult to fit him in. The French President enjoys a number of advantages in this game of isolation which he plays—most of them rather irritating to those who must deal with him or try to figure out how to deal with him. De Gaulle is never subjected to any public cross-examination or political pressures of the electioneering or "report to the nation" kind. He has far less to say publicly about his policies or thinking than Khrushchev. Twice a year he holds a press conference, and the rest of the time he ponders, while the world picks up the pieces and tries to figure out what French policy is.

Moreover, just as it was in 1940, de Gaulle enjoys the luxury of playing this role of "isolation" or "independence" well behind the lines of security provided by his allies. He is perfectly safe in declaiming as he did at his last press conference about the necessity for "important modifications with regard to the terms and conditions of our participation in the alliance," because he knows that in the nuclear stalemate his country

Russians were having their get-together as they did at Potsdam and Yalta, without France, but France did not subscribe and hence remains the true custodian of Europe's personality and future. Will it be that way? Will it work?

This much seems to be true. A majority of governments in Europe are perfectly happy to have de Gaulle carry the ball in opposition to a non-aggression pact, in opposition to any "deals" which freeze the European situation too solidly, too historically. From this the General and his Foreign Office are currently deriving a certain sense of usefulness.

But in the larger scheme of things—the Gaullist concepts of Europe's uniting on the model of the Franco-German treaty, agreeing on an agricultural market formula by the end of the year, being suspicious, wary, and resistant to Anglo-Saxon talks with the Russians—things look pretty empty for the General.

Alone In Suspicion

The suspicions are not shared. The European sympathies for the plight of the French farmers does not seem to be very strong. Even the Germans are not inclined to put the model of the Franco-German treaty ahead of the concepts of NATO or the Treaty of Rome.

From his isolation, de Gaulle has turned up the corner of one small card. He proposes to call his own disarmament conference, before the end of the year. But having isolated himself for two-and-a-half years from the "disarmament dialogue" (however fatuous the Geneva conference might have been), he is not exactly in a position to assume the mantle of leadership and statesmanship.

In any case, suppose the Russians suggest that as a first step toward disarmament, before Russia would attend de Gaulle's conference, France adhere to the Moscow treaty? A French-sponsored disarmament conference at this juncture in history does not look like much more than a small pair in a high-stake poker game. Meanwhile, the French President seems to be expecting somebody to deal him an ace.

As Our Readers See It

'Disgusted'

I wonder how many other citizens like myself, 40 years or more residents of Canada, thrifty and hard-working, but who never recovered from the depression in the '30s and therefore with no hope of making adequate provision for old age, will be as disgusted as I was to read your editorial "Paying for Pensions."

If the proposed contributory scheme (which will do practically nothing to help today's senior citizens) had been introduced 25 or 30 or more years ago, as was the case in enlightened countries like Scandinavia, New Zealand and Britain, there might not be so many millionaires in our country, but at least it would be a place worthwhile living out one's later years.

The universal pension of $75 should be granted to everyone at age 65. Until the contributory scheme begins to benefit contributors substantially, no one with incomes of more than $5,000 annually for the past 10 years should receive the pension. A simple means test could be the production of the latest income tax receipts prior to application for the pension.

Everyone should be compelled to file a tax return, even non-taxable persons for whom special forms could be provided. This plan might also indirectly increase revenue by compelling some who are now evading taxes to pay up. It would only be a temporary measure to aid those who will not live to benefit from the contributory scheme. To be fair, persons earning more than $5,000 annually should be exempt from the present 2% Old Age Pension tax.

But it is manifestly absurd that, as at present, a millionaire at 70 can apply for and receive $75 per month while another thrifty, self-respecting, but unfortunate Canadian citizen of 69 has to eke out his existence on the same amount on a means test, after giving the best of his life to this country.

"EVENLIGHT"

Priestly Pocket-Picketing

May I submit for publication the following headed "GUARDIANS OF PUBLIC MORALITY" by S. M. Gibbons, O.S.M.?

What is the function of the daily press, its reason for existence? To inform, to protect, to lead, to entertain. All these ends the modern newspaper likes to believe it fulfills. But I am inclined to believe that some newspapers lead a Jekyll-Hyde life.

Great defender of public morality, the power that makes cheating politicians tremble, rowdy gangsters hide. Teacher of mores and manners. Marriage counselor, parent adviser, teenage authority. The newspaper claims to hold all those noble offices.

But take a closer peek at the other side of the Fourth Estate. Start with the movie section; concentrate on the large ads that rake in the money. Inspiring, aren't they? Overdeveloped females with underdeveloped clothes. Why not paper your boy's bedroom with the ads? If he's seen the movie section ahead of you the walls of his mind have them pinned up already.

Spread the comics on the floor. Comics? What's so funny about most of them? Violence, murder, thievery, nonsense, marriage cracks. Do these qualities of our popular comics make us laugh? They should make us cry to see how low our sense of humor has fallen.

We cart the garbage out the back door. Then bring it in the front door in the form of the daily paper. Whose fault is it? The newspapers themselves, the smug editors in their ivory tower who can preach against anything that does not hurt circulation. Yes, some of them are guilty.

But we, the subscribers, must strike our own breasts, too. The newspapers feed us trash for the same reason that TV viewers are dished out junk. Because we have a taste for it, argues the Guardian of Public Morality. I often wonder if the editors who mouth this argument would allow their own children candy for all three meals merely because the kids wanted it. We are virtually certain to have all the Defence Ministers of recent times paraded like a kind of top defaulters' squad.

These expectations were duly fulfilled again the other day. But so was another side to the field-marshal's strategy—his talent for being devastatingly quotable. No reporter likes sleeping at his post, and this is never in danger of happening when Lord Montgomery, having pointed the dangers of playing defence musical chairs, remarks that if this goes on the higher direction of our defence "will get into the hands of the admirals, generals, and air marshals, with fatal results."

Nor does the reporter sleep when the famous soldier gives his views on "heavy and concentrated doses of weed-killer" needed in Whitehall, or of his faith that complete integration is likely to be achieved after the next war.

ELECTIONS

Free to Friends

By STANLEY UYS
From Cape Town.

CAMPAIGNING has started in one of the strangest elections ever seen in South Africa, in which 750,000 Xhosa-speaking Africans may go to the polls on November 20 to elect 45 members of the Transkei's Legislative Assembly—the embryo parliament of this embryonic black State which Dr. Verwoerd is creating within the framework of apartheid.

Emergency regulations have been in force in the Transkei since November, 1960, and meetings of more than 10 persons are prohibited. The Minister of Bantu Administration, Dr. De Wet Nel, has given an assurance in a newspaper interview, however, that the election will be "free." At the moment, though, no candidate knows for certain whether he will be allowed to hold election meetings or whether the Government will regard him as an "agitator" and prosecute him.

Proclamation 400, of 1960, empowers the chiefs, who have 64 seats in the Assembly, automatically to deal with troublesome tribesmen. They may summarily arrest any African who fails to satisfy them that he is lawfully in a particular area, and they may punish any of their subjects who treat them with "disrespect, contempt or ridicule," or who do not render them the respect, obedience and "such services" as required under African law and custom.

Chiefs can impose fines of up to £50, or four head of large stock, or 20 head of small stock or imprisonment of up to three months.

Trouble for Independents

As it is the Government's policy to buttress the chief's powers, and opposition to apartheid often involves also opposition to the role of the chiefs, an independent candidate could easily find himself in trouble. A Government assurance that Proclamation 400 will not hinder a "free" election is not enough; the fact remains that the proclamation is hanging like a sword over the heads of candidates. Only its repeal, or at least suspension until after the elections, will meet the situation.

There is also the case of Mr. Hammington Majija, an executive member of the Cape Liberal Party, who is a Xhosa citizen and who intends to stand for election. Recently he attended a meeting in the Transkei and made known his intention to seek election. At the conclusion of his speech he told Africans that if any attempt was made to arrest him they should know the elections were a fraud. He had barely resumed his seat when two security branch detectives told him they were arresting him. They released him when the crowd became threatening and it is not known what police intentions are now.

This incident caused the Cape Times to remark that the Government should not behave in the Transkei the way Dr. Salazar behaves in Portugal—allowing the opposition to emerge just before an election and then taking it into custody.

'Fowl Run'

One of the four paramount chiefs in the Transkei, Sabata Dalindyebo, has emerged as a strong opponent of the Government's plan to partition South Africa into Bantustans like the Transkei. He said that the Transkei was like a "fowl run," that he had long suspected that the purpose was to keep Africans in a "cage" and that Africans would be kept as "Kaffirs."

Ignoring the advice of extremist Africans who want to boycott the whole election, Chief Sabata has called on his Tembu followers in the Transkei to register as voters and last week he went to Johannesburg and Cape Town to discuss the matter with his followers there.

While in Johannesburg, Chief Sabata had a brush with a police constable who demanded not the customary pass from him, but his passport, because, said the constable, the Transkei was now a foreign State. It required a visit to the Bantu Commissioner's office to straighten out the tangle and Chief Sabata was furious.

It is this element of farce in apartheid which enables many South Africans to retain their sanity.

'Devastatingly Quotable'

By NORMAN SHRAPNEL

ONE of these days some audacious journalist is going to see Lord Montgomery's name on a list of defence debate speakers and dashingly refrain from reporting him. Men have won medals for less.

There is, and we have to face it, a certain predictability about the field-marshal's performances. We are likely to hear how right he has been over the years and how deaf official ears have been to his advice. We are virtually certain to have all the Defence Ministers of recent times paraded like a kind of top defaulters' squad.

These expectations were duly fulfilled again the other day. But so was another side to the field-marshal's strategy—his talent for being devastatingly quotable. Pay Boost Will Eclipse MP Moonlighting—Groos

By AB KENT

More pay for Canada's MPs will mean the end of parliamentary moonlighting and ensure full time representation in the Commons, Victoria member David Groos said here today.

Just returned from his first session, the Liberal member said, "People who had been down any length of time were just getting deeper and deeper into debt."

He said he had heard of cases where MPs took up teaching, selling insurance and other night jobs, neglecting duties to supplement their income while in high-cost-of-living Ottawa.

"This will stop that. The raises are perfectly adequate and will make sure people are full-time members," Mr. Groos said.

FROM HERE TO AUSTERITY

He supports the pay raises of $8,000 per member, even though he went to the capital prepared to live on the $10,000 MPs used to get. But he agrees with Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker that the payment might have been more properly held back until the next parliament.

He is only sorry, he said, that there has been delay in old age pension increases. But since this is tied in with the Liberal-promised Canada Pension Plan, it depends on agreement between the provinces, to which end the prime minister and provincial premiers will confer in Ottawa next month.

Mr. Groos is hopeful that a plan will be approved by the end of 1963.

CHALLENGING LIFE

Mr. Groos was asked his impressions of life in the rarefied atmosphere of Parliament Hill.

He likes it — "It's challenging."

DAVID GROOS, MP ... supports raise

The three-months-old Liberal government is attempting the most difficult legislation in years and will get support — "I don't see any general election for a couple of years."

Being in a minority government is no impediment to progress — "We're going to go ahead as if we had a majority, although it will take a little longer than if we had control of Parliament."

The legendary vigorous life of cocktail Ottawa society either is mythical or just doesn't apply to hard-working members — "We didn't have any."

Although no stranger to Ottawa, having served to retirement as captain in the RCN, Mr. Groos went down to take his seat in the Commons with an open mind, was surprised at the slowness of the parliamentary system.

'OVERSEES' NAVAL CENTRE

The member's "home" while living in Ottawa is a small suite in a venerable building just five minutes' walk from Parliament Hill, overlooking Laurier Avenue and familiar naval headquarters.

It is a popular spot, the Roxborough Apartments where fellow British Columbians Arthur Laing, Bert Herdridge and Jack Nicholson also have their digs.

His 14-hour days seem long. He devotes mornings to constituency business and committee meetings, then sits to 11 p.m. in the Commons. Committees alone could keep him busy — he is a member of six, including the important 24-member defence committee and the committee on veterans' affairs.

JOINS A NEW MESS

"It's very, very interesting. For a newcomer it's like joining a new mess. There are new rules and the language is different. I want to be sure I don't make any mistakes. But it's all falling into place now."

He cited as some of the most time-consuming and vital pieces of work done by the new parliament the municipal aid program, Atlantic development board and the new department of industry.

"A great deal has been accomplished in the time available and there is much more to be done. The new members, particularly, think this," Mr. Groos said.

One of the biggest chores ahead is going to be implementing recommendations of the Norris Commission on Great Lakes shipping, which will take "a vast amount of work."

12 YOUNGSTERS RUN AFOUL OF TOADSTOOLS, BERRIES

Berries and toadstools that look good enough to eat but aren't sent 12 children to hospital Thursday.

All the youngsters were released after having had their stomachs pumped.

Hospital officials say the outbreak of poisoning is the result of two factors: Laurel berries are now ripening and the growth of toadstools has been brought on by recent warm, wet weather.

Laurel berries look edible to most children. And youngsters often mistake toadstools for mushrooms.

SAME TWO RIVALS IN SENIORS' FINAL

It appeared that the clock had been turned back a year at Victoria Golf Club this morning.

Stepping out for the final of the annual Seniors' North West Golf Association tournament for the second successive year were Portland's defending champion, Bill Blakely, and Victoria's southpaw Pete McIntyre.

Blakely, who downed McIntyre in the 1962 final, won his way into today's title match Thursday with a 6-and-5 triumph over Seattle's Tom Green, the man who beat Blakely in the 1961 final.

McIntyre, winner in 1955, had a tougher trip Friday. He squeezed through with a one-up victory over Vancouver's Jack Richardson, who shared medal honors with Blakely in the qualifying round.

Daffy Dodger Castoffs Excel-In Other League

By UP International

Ain't it just like those daffy Dodgers?!

They can't do anything right in the National League but you ought to see them operate in the American.

Wait Alston undoubtedly will be delighted to know that two of his old buddies, Ed Roebuck and Don Zimmer, are performing exactly like pennant winners with Washington.

And the Dodger skipper also may break out in cheers to learn that another of his ex-employees, big Stan Williams, suddenly has become one of the hottest pitchers on the Yankees' staff.

Roebuck and Zimmer, each of whom send Alston his best regards, combined their efforts Thursday to produce a 5-4 victory for the Senators against the Angels.

Zimmer had two hits and drove in two runs. Roebuck registered his first AL victory during a four-inning relief stint.

BLANCHARD HELPED

Williams, coming off a one-hitter in his previous start, fired a six-hitter against the Red Sox and struck out seven as he hurled the Yankees to a 10-2 triumph. The former Dodger right-hander got most of his help from Johnny Blanchard, subbing for the injured Roger Maris in right field, drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and a two-run homer.

Alston also may be interested in knowing that Yankee manager Ralph Houk, sitting pretty with an 8½-game lead, now is playing his Jayvees, possibly to let them earn their letters.

In addition to Blanchard's two blasts, Phil Linz, filling in for Tony Kubek, collected three of the Yankees' 13 hits, and part-timer Hector Lopez contributed a double and two singles. Boston's only extra base blow was Dick Stuart's 30th homer.

Minnesota bombed Baltimore, 13-3, and Detroit crushed Kansas City, 11-1. In the only other AL games scheduled.

If you're interested in one good reason why San Francisco Giants are giving Los Angeles Dodgers another slow hotfoot, take a closer look at Willie Mays.

Wonderful Willie got off to a slow start this season and the Giants had trouble keeping pace with their California neighbors. But Mays is warming to his task again, and in the Giant scheme of things he's the man who keeps the fire burning.

MAYS CAUGHT FIRE

Just three weeks ago today, Mays was hitting .277 with 22 home runs and 55 runs batted in. Respectable, but not up to par for a man with a .315 lifetime batting average. Oh, yes, San Francisco trailed the Dodgers by eight and one-half games at that time.

In big ways and small, Mays has lifted the Giants back into the race over the last few weeks. His latest contribution was a routine single that drove home two runs, including the winning tally as San Francisco whipped Cincinnati Reds, 6-3 Thursday night.

The Say-Hey kid now sports a .293 mark with 29 homers and 73 RBIs. The Giants, incidentally, have won 17 of their last 23 contests and trail Los Angeles by three games.

The Dodgers broke a three-game losing slump by overcoming Milwaukee Braves, 7-5, in the National League's only day game. In night contests Houston Colts defeated St. Louis Cardinals, 4-2, Philadelphia Phillies edged Chicago Cubs, 4-3, and Pittsburgh Pirates beat New York Mets 8-2.

Hawaii-Seattle Play Off For Final With Victorians

By BOB BELL

Brian Brossard is a rather valuable young man. Brossard is 14, and a pitcher for Carnarvon All-Stars in the Pony League.

Brossard can't be used as a pitcher again until 6 p.m. Saturday, and there's a good chance he might not be called on at all, but he's still a very valuable gentleman.

If there has to be a single reason why Carnarvon is now favored to capture the regional championships, fire-ballin' Brossard is it.

The lanky young man guided Carnarvon into the final games of the regional tournament by striking out no less than 15 members of the Hawaiian All-Stars Thursday.

Carnarvon won their enviable reputation of being favorites by dumping the Islanders, the only other unbeaten team in the tourney, 8-3 in the evening game at Carnarvon Park.

GET TWO SHOTS

This leaves Victoria with a clear bye into the final session—and they will have two chances to make good. If they win the game at 2 p.m. Saturday, the tourney will be theirs, and if they lose, they'll still have to be beaten at 6 p.m., to be eliminated.

And by that time, Brossard's 40 hours rest period between pitching chores will be over, and he'll be able to go back on the mound.

Hawaii and Seattle meet each other head on tonight at 6 to decide who meets Victoria in the final. Seattle edged Richland 5-4 in the first game Thursday, keeping their chances for the title alive.

It was Richland's second loss. The eastern Washington representatives are finished.

SIX-RUN SPLURGE

Even though the 8-3 score might indicate Victoria had it all over Hawaii in their tussle, that was far from the case.

Going into the fifth inning, the score was tied 1-1, and after Hawaii had their fifth frame licks, Victoria was down 2-1.

Then in the bottom of the fifth, Carnarvon got to Hawaiian pitcher Larry Soeda. The Victoria team tagged him for five hits, and were helped by two Hawaiian errors to pile up six quick runs.

But the Hawaiians refused to die. After a walk and two singles with only one out in the top of the sixth, it looked like they were starting a little rally of their own.

Then they ran into Brossard. He fanned two straight batters to retire the side.

In the seventh, Mike Yonekawa—Hawaii's big gun for three hits for four trips to the plate—belted the only home-run of the game to lift Hawaii's hopes once more.

But then Brossard struck out his 15th man of the game and Gary Ikemoto was caught at first to put an end to the proceedings.

BOXLA PLAYOFFS

Juniors Help Big Brothers

Victoria Junior Shamrocks finished up their Junior Inter-City Lacrosse Seasonal semifinal with New Westminster in fine fashion Thursday, and now they're stepping up the ladder to give their big brothers a helping hand.

The Junior Rocks dumped New Westminster 15-9 in New Westminster to capture the best-of-three semifinal series in straight games.

The senior Rocks, on the other hand, go into the second game of the best-of-seven semifinals with New Westminster tonight at Memorial Arena, carrying one loss.

Key play-maker for the Baby Rocks Thursday was Bill Munroe, who collected two goals and four assists, and he seems to be just the lad who might be able to cure the senior Rocks' troubles in the power-play department.

TO PLAY POINT

Shamrock's power play this season has been notorious for giving up more goals than it scores, and the problem seems to be the lack of an effective point man to keep the play alive.

This is the task Munroe has been performing with the Junior Shamrocks, and coach Don Ashbee hopes he'll be able to do it again tonight at 8:30 for the seniors.

Shamrocks travel to New Westminster Tuesday for the third game of the series.

Junior Shamrocks start their league final at Memorial Arena at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday against Vancouver Legion 16, who beat Vindex 15-3 in Vancouver Thursday to take the other junior semifinal series.

OTAWA — Second seeded Don McCormick of Victoria advanced easily into the second round of the Canadian junior closed tennis championships Thursday.

McCormick defeated Pierre Dubois of Montreal, 6-1, 6-0, in a preliminary match, and went on to win his first round match against Frank Flanagan of Fredrickton, 6-0, 6-1.

Theodore Booker of Victoria, top seed in girls' 14-and-under division, downed Carol Clute of Edmonton, 6-3, 6-0, in 16-and-under competition.

Former Doormats In Island Playoff

McLarens will still be enjoying the taste of revenge as they head for Port Alberni for the Vancouver Island senior "B" men's softball championships Saturday.

After being bounced around in last position almost all season in the Heywood Avenue League, McLarens turned tigers against Imperials and Sooke in the lower Island tournament.

Thursday, McLarens defeated Sooke 10-8 in the final game of the double-knockout competition at Heywood Avenue Park. The win gave them the title and a berth in the double-loss Island tourney.

Ken Oliphant and Jeff Hett combined pitching duties to hold Sooke to seven hits in the eight-inning game.

Rookies Enable Shaw to Enjoy The Good Life

REGINA (CP)—Two youngsters have made life happy for rookie coach Bob Shaw of Saskatchewan Roughriders so far this season.

When the 1963 Canadian Football League season began Shaw cried aloud about his need of a fullback and punter. Rookie fullback George Reed and Canadian end Martin Fabi so far have proved the answer to Shaw's prayers.

Fabi, 20, a husky St. Thomas, Ont., native, pounded out two 60-yard punts in the final nine minutes Thursday night to give Roughriders a 5-3 upset victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats before 12,609 rain-drenched fans.

The result shot Saskatchewan into a first-place tie with idle B.C. Lions and Calgary Stampeders in the Western Conference standings. Riders have two victories in three starts while both Lions and Stampeders won their first two starts.

The defeat left Hamilton deadlocked with Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Conference. Toronto won its first start while Ottawa, which whipped Montreal Alouettes 31-14 Thursday, and Hamilton are 1-1.

Toronto meets Edmonton Eskimos in the second interlocking game of the season tonight at Edmonton.

FABI WRAPS IT UP

Don Sutherland shot Hamilton ahead 3-0 in the opening quarter Thursday with a 36-yard field goal. Reg Whitehouse drew Saskatchewan abreast with a 34-yard field goal in the second. The third quarter was scoreless and Fabi's pair of singles wrapped up the scoring in the final 15 minutes.

Fabi, a former Montreal end, averaged 44.3 yards on 11 punts despite a 20-mile-an-hour wind and rain in the final 30 minutes.

His punting gave Riders the territorial margin needed in a game which saw the defence hold the top hand. Neither of the kicking specialists to decide the issue.

Quarterback Ron Lancaster, an Ottawa regular the last three years, completed nine of 20 pass attempts for 127 yards and had two interceptions in his debut with Saskatchewan.

Veteran Bernie Faloney and his understudies—Frank Costantino and Joe Zuger—could do nothing through the air against Riders. They completed seven passes in 22 attempts for 46 yards and Faloney fell victim to four interceptions. On the ground Tiger-Cats rushed for 127 yards.

At Ottawa, stung by a second trouncing in two starts, Montreal coach Jim Trimble said he wasn't too downhearted. "We'll be all right. This isn't the end."

ALS STARTED SLOWLY

Ottawa ran up a 31-0 lead in the first half. The Als couldn't get into the Ottawa side of the field in the first quarter and got no farther than the Ottawa 42-yard line in the second.

Montreal veteran tackle Ted Elshy was lost for at least three weeks with a dislocated elbow after a pileup in the second quarter. And Ottawa halfback Joe Poirier was taken to hospital with a mild concussion two minutes before the game ended. He is expected to be fit in a few days.

JACK NICKLAUS

Stars Fight Cutoff

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Julius Boros, the U.S. Open champion, and Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and Professional Golfers Association champ, are fighting to survive the cutoff today in the second round of the $40,000 Insurance City Open.

After Thursday's 18-holes on the par 35-36-71, Wetherfield Country Club course, Nicklaus had a 73 and Boros a 74 to put them well down the list.

Wes Ellis, 31, part-time pro from West Caldwell, N.J., was tops with a 66. Right behind him were Bill Casper, 67; Jerry Pittman, 68, and 13 other players with 69s.

The hardnosed fact facing Boros and Nicklaus is that 27 in the field of 150 broke par, 11 others shot par, and 21 others posted 72s.

Nicklaus is tied with 20 players and Boros with 10.

GEORGIA OFFICIALS:

Butts' Character 'Bad'

Times News Services

ATLANTA—Two University of Georgia officials Thursday said that Wallace Butts has a bad character and they would not believe him under oath.

Their testimony about the former Georgia coach and athletic director completed direct evidence in the trial of Butts' $10,000,000 libel suit against the Curtis Publishing Co.

University of Georgia comptroller J. D. Bolton and Dr. Hugh Mills, associate professor of education, gave evidence concerning Butts.

Butts himself was the final witness on the ninth day of the trial which resulted from a Saturday Evening Post article charging that Butts and coach Paul Bryant of Alabama rigged last fall's Alabama-Georgia game. Alabama, 17-point favorites, won 35-0.

The roly poly little man who resigned last February as athletic director at Georgia prior to the publication of the magazine article was grim-faced as he faced the packed courtroom.

William Schroder, Butts' attorney, asked: "Is everything you have testified so far in this case true, so help you God?"

"Yes, sir," Butts answered.

Closing arguments by lawyers were set for today and Monday.

Federal judge Lewis R. Morgan said each side will have an hour to argue its side in today's session.

PLAYS OUTLINED

Then he will recess court until Monday when the arguments will be concluded and he will give his charge to the 12-man jury which for two weeks has heard testimony from a score of witnesses who have diagrammed plays on a blackboard and even took to the courtroom floor to explain such football maneuvers as the "pro set" and the "slot."

Testimony of a Chicago beer distributor, Frank Scooby, was read to the jury Thursday. Scooby's testimony was taken last month in Chicago.

Scooby conceded that he bet $50,000 on college and professional football games in 1957 but had never discussed gambling with Butts. Scooby said his friendship with Butts was such that he once helped get him a $6,000 loan.

But Scooby said that he had declined to help find backers for three business ventures by Butts because he lacked confidence in the enterprises.

Highway Accident Kills Karl Drews

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A car struck and killed former major league baseball pitcher Karl Drews Thursday as he tried to flag down a passing motorist.

Drews' car stalled on a small bridge. He was killed when he got out to get help.

Drews, 44, joined New York Yankees in 1946. Later he pitched for the old St. Louis Browns, Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Reds.

Ken Oliphant and Jeff Hett combined pitching duties to hold Sooke to seven hits in the eight-inning game.

"I am finished. It is a terribly harsh decision. I know I have done wrong and expect to be punished, but not this."

Williams said: "They might as well have cut off my feet. As I owned up voluntarily I thought I might get off with a fairly light punishment. I have never done anything dishonest before in my life."

Millon said Thursday night:

SHE SHOULD BET ON HER DREAMS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Calgary woman phoned a newspaper office Thursday and predicted the result of a race to be run several hours later.

The woman told Province sports reporter Brian Pound her information came from a dream—including the name of a horse—totally unfamiliar to her, and the way the race would be run.

In his roundup after the day's racing was over at Exhibition Park, the sports writer said the woman asked him if there was an entry in the seventh race named Salbreve.

Indeed there was.

Well, her dream said Salbreve would charge down the backstretch on the inside, move to the outside for running room, take the lead turning for home and win by two lengths.

Right. Except it was 1½ lengths.

The woman did not identify herself further. Salbreve, with its seventh victory of the year at the Vancouver track, paid $16, $630 and $3.

Veteran's 67 Wins B.C. Pro-Amateur

VANCOUVER (CP)—Veteran Al Feldman of Tacoma, Wash., won top money Thursday in the pro-amateur event that kicked off the 1963 British Columbia Open golf championship.

Feldman, 54, toured the Point Grey course in a five-under-par 67 for low pro money of $100.

Defending champion Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Duke Matthews of Eugene, Ore., and Gary Ploof of Lewiston, Idaho, were one shot back with 68's. Each won $40.

The record field of 187 golfers, including 70 pros, teed off today in the first round of the $5,000 tournament.

The field will be trimmed Saturday to the low 100 scores and ties for Sunday's final round in the 54-hole event.

Toller Captures Cedar Hill Crown

Rick Toller won the Cedar Hill Golf Club championship this week with a low gross score of 62. Runner-up was Ray Harrington.

In ladies' handicap championship play, Mrs. Ken Saunders captured low net honors with a score of 60. Mrs. Pete Bove was runner-up with 61.

Mrs. John Hess had the low gross score of 80.

Patton U.S. Captain

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N.C., has been named playing captain of the U.S. amateur golf team that will face Canada and Mexico in the America Cup matches Sept. 5-6 at Des Moines, Iowa.

SELECTED to coach the Los Angeles Blades in 1963-64 Western Hockey League season is Alfie Pike (above), former coach of New York Rangers. Pike, 45, succeeds Jack Bonanza, who acted as player-coach last season and will return this year as player. Pike piloted Calgary club in last two WHL campaigns.

Canucks Win Aussie Event

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Canada today won the Australian women's foursomes golf championship here today after a surprise finish by Gayle Hitchens, of Vancouver, and Mrs. Betty Stanhope Cole, of Edmonton.

The Canadian pair took the 36-hole tournament, played at the Royal Sydney golf course here, on a "count-back" after returning the same aggregate of 157 as British golfers Ruth Porter and Sheila Vaughan.

Miss Hitchens and Mrs. Cole came away with the title after a second round of 76 compared with the British pair's 79. Mrs. J. H. Todd, of Victoria, and Rae Milligan, of Calgary, were sixth with a tally of 165.

Fishing Report

Here are the weekend salmon fishing prospects, according to reports submitted by boothhouse operators:

OTTAWA POINT-PEPPER BAY Fishing fair. Good number of humpback showings in the 5-9 pound range, along with some large springers. Also fair numbers of coho being caught. Some limit catches.

VICTORIA-OAK BAY Fishing fairly good. Springers being taken off the beach mainly on herring strip. Springs up to 18 pounds. Fair numbers of coho in 5-6 pound range, but very few humpbacks.

SAANICH INLET Fishing fair. Good showing of springers in 15-20 pound class being caught on herring. Some coho, very few humpbacks. Morning best time for springers.

COWICHAN BAY Fishing good. Several good catches of springers coming in and large numbers of fish showing. Best spot near river mouth. Only a few coho being taken.

PARKSVILLE-NORTHWEST BAY Fishing good. Mostly coho, being taken on herring strip, small springers and at times, backtail flies. Some springers.

QUALICUM BEACH Fishing very good. Many limits of coho being caught—mainly on backtail flies. Most fish in 5-7 pound range. Not many springers showing.

CAMPBELL RIVER Fishing poor. Lots of fish are being caught, but very few are being caught. Fishing tapered off considerably in last week. Tyre are very busy, coho jumping but not biting. Fair number of coho being caught.

PORT ALBERT Fishing good. Springs up to 30 pounds being caught right in the harbor as well as at China Creek. They are taking herring strips, small springers and at times, backtail flies. Very few coho.

B.C.'s Bert Ticehurst Canadian Am 'Sleeper'

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Bob Stimpson of Ottawa, an unassuming 33-year-old salesman, had the chance of a golfing lifetime today to give the current Canadian Amateur golf championship tournament an atomic jolt.

BULLETIN

SAINT JOHN, N.B.—Medalist Bert Ticehurst, of Vancouver, defeated Keith Alexander, of Calgary, 3 and 1, today, in the quarter-final round of the Canadian Amateur golf championship.

Stimpson's task was to eliminate Nick Weslock of Toronto, who knocked out Gary Cowan of Kitchener Thursday.

The Weslock-Cowan match in the third round stole the show completely over the Riverside course while Stimpson was plodding along for two well-deserved wins.

Both Nick and Gary were gunning for their second national titles. The two met head on a year ago at London, Ont., where Weslock defeated Cowan 3 and 2 in the opening round.

It was a 4- and 3 victory Thursday for the 45-year-old Weslock over his 24-year-old challenger in a sizzling battle that produced a barrage of birdies on the front nine and left Nick one hole to the good.

Both simmered down on the home stretch but Weslock had the greater staying power and won three holes with pars. His victory was emphasized by his four-under-par medal score for the 15 holes played. Cowan was one over.

TOPS MICKOSKI—Stimpson moved along virtually unnoticed with a 2 up win in the morning over Dave MacFarlane of Edmundston, N.B., and a solid 4 and 3 victory over Nick Mickoski of Winnipeg in the afternoon.

The elimination process that cut the field from 32 to eight in the two rounds left only one American contender, Tom Draper, 49, of Royal Oak, Mich., who was nudged out in the final last year by Reg Taylor of South Africa. Taylor is not defending his title this year.

Gordon LeRiche of Montreal, former Quebec amateur champion and runner-up for the Canadian junior title in 1959, supplied the upset phase Thursday by knocking off Doug Silverberg of Calgary 1 up.

LAST MARITIMER

Bud Kennedy, another home club member and last Maritime contender, went to two-extra holes in the third round before fading out. Joe Ferguson of Calgary, down four holes with five to go, put on the pressure and won at the 20th with an eight-foot birdie putt.

Keith Alexander of Calgary, winner over Ed Ross of Saskatoon, 3 and 2 in the morning round, wiped out a three-hole deficit in the afternoon to overpower Charles Bruce of Halifax 3 and 2 with a five-hole winning spree.

The sleeper in this tournament still appears to be Bert Ticehurst of Vancouver, who won medal honors in the qualifying round Tuesday for the third time.

Thursday, Ticehurst eliminated Bill Bishop of Saint John 5 and 4 and fired 10 pars and five birdies at Bill Wakeham of Victoria in the afternoon for a 5 and 3 win.

Bob Jamieson of Peterborough defeated two Americans. Jamieson, 19, shuffled out Walter Stahl of Cleveland 3 and 1 in the morning and broke loose for wins at the 12th, 13th and 17th in the afternoon to defeat H. H. Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., 1 up.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Ricki Green, 12, Newport News, Va., for his question:

What makes a mosquito bite tick?

When a mosquito attacks, the blood and prevents it from clotting. The mosquito must take her food in liquid form. She syphons up your blood from the stab and flies away. This part of the operation is usually painless. The mosquito's beak is a bag of delicate surgical tools, and she works with a feathery light touch. Later, the wound begins to swell and itch, and the irritating bump is caused by the chemicals that the mosquito injected into the wound to prevent the blood from clotting before she had finished sipping her dinner.

As she feeds, the mosquito draws up blood from tissue around the wound, and this blood has been injected with the itching chemicals. If her meal is interrupted, she flies off leaving most of these chemicals in your flesh. For this reason, it is not wise to swat her while she is feeding. Wait and let her syphon off as much chemically-saturated blood as possible.

A so-called mosquito bite is actually a piercing stab to reach a small blood vessel under the skin. A squirt of saliva is then injected into the wound. This watery liquid with its dissolved chemicals thus with the juices from fruit and tender plants.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Wayne Fridley, age 13, of Eleanor, W. Va., for his question:

Does Mercury ever freeze?

Every substance can reach the temperature at which it freezes solid. This is called its freezing point. The freezing point is also the melting point, for it is the temperature at which a solid substance melts to a runny liquid. Mercury is the only metal which is a liquid at ordinary, everyday temperatures.

However, at minus 38.87 degrees centigrade, liquid mercury freezes solid. Its freezing and melting point is almost 39 centigrade degrees colder than the freezing point of water. Mercury boils at about 359 centigrade degrees.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Thelma Ritter's such a big star now—with three of her new movies being unleashed—that the picture companies have stashed her in a suite at the Regency with seven closets, two TV sets and one wastebasket—and have invited her to parties given by people who have quadruplex apartments.

"What does our host do for a living?" Miss Ritter inquired in a suspicious whisper after running up and down four flights of stairs at the quadruplex party.

"He steals companies," she was told.

Miss Ritter was lolling luxuriously in a silk jersey leopard-skin hostess gown ("Sorry, I mean tiger skin; leopards are spotted, aren't they?" she said) as she decided to develop the theory that love must be sweeping the country.

"Because the titles of my pictures are 'For Love or Money,' 'A New Kind of Love,' and 'Move Over, Darling.' That's an awful lot of love for one girl, isn't it?"

She takes Eva Gabor's guy away from her in one picture. I forget which one. Not only do I forget, she forgets. "I can't even remember my own name in all these pictures," she says.

Eva Gabor and she became great friends. They discussed analysis.

"Vy should I have analysis, dolling?" Eva said. "I tal everything to everybody I meet anyway."

Eva told her a yarn about Zsa Zsa's buying jewelry abroad and having it reappraised here. "Vy she did it," Eva explained, "was, according my sister, dat she didn't trust those voreigners!"

Miss Ritter's trying to spend the summer at Fire Island, at the area she prefers to refer to as "Square Harbor." A year ago she was in Colorado making "How the West Was Won" and fighting the "gravy-crazy waitresses."

"I'd say to the waitress, 'Please, no gravy!' They had a guy with a squirter who squirted gravy on everything. I finally objected when they put gravy on the watermelon."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

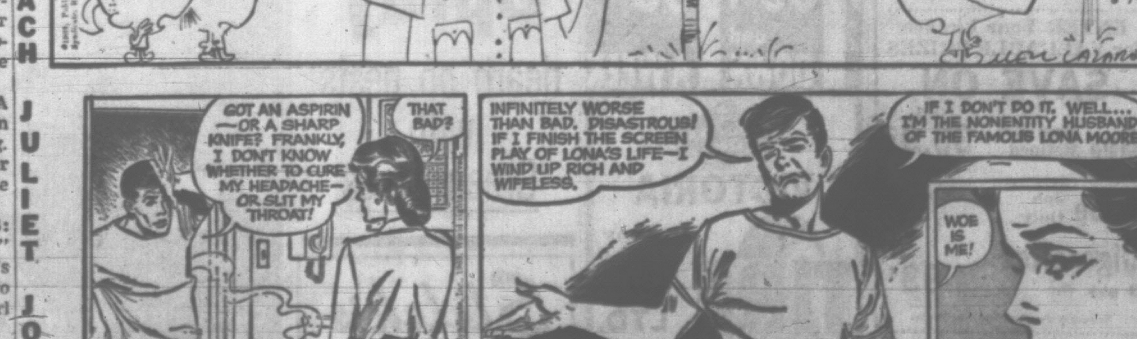

Ava Gardner wants to bar everybody from the set of "Night of the Iguana" which she'll do with Richard Burton in Mexico—and doesn't that include Liz Taylor, girl fan? . . .

Wash'n rumor: that Adlai'll take Bill Douglas' Supreme Court seat. . . Sammy Davis Jr., wearing a canary-colored sports jacket, was a sensation at Lilly's, where he refused to kiss a pretty girl explaining, "I'm married."

Joe Louis applauded at Al Martino's act at the Copacabana. . . Steve McQueen's pretty wife, Neile Adam, will resume her film career in "The New Interns." . . Si Seadler wanted to present the BW with something as valuable as 3 carrots when she celebrated her birthday at Teddy's and El Morocco. And he did, too! Three carrots!

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A teetotaler is a guy who, when waking up in the morning, knows he won't feel any better all day." Mark Evans (of the Ice Capades of '64).

REMEMBERED QUOTES: "Marriage is like a girle," claims Harold Coffin, "it's easier to get into than it is to squirm out of." That's earl brother.

'SPY' BALLOON OVER ALASKA DISAPPEARS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP) — A balloon which drifted over the northern coast of Alaska presumably disintegrated in the atmosphere or descended to earth in the Canadian Arctic, a North American Air Defence Command spokesman said Thursday.

The spokesman said the balloon disappeared from radar tracking scopes after drifting across the Distant Early Warning line Sunday and Monday. He said the sighting was not considered important enough to announce at the time.

An announcement late Wednesday from NORAD had confirmed the sighting of the balloon but said there was no indication of what happened to it. The balloon was tracked to an altitude of about 39,000 feet.

The NORAD spokesman said the identity and origin of the balloon were unknown, although it presumably was of a type used in high altitude weather research.

GEORGE BROWN

Labor Leader Defends U.K. Ministers

VANCOUVER (CP) — The deputy leader of the British Labor Party said Thursday any suggestion that the Profumo affair is a symptom of moral breakdown in Britain is nonsense.

George Brown told a press conference the character and habits of the British are the same as before revelations of the British war minister's relations with a prostitute.

"The Profumo case is a sordid, wretched case with some serious overtones but not one that means anything is wrong with British cabinet ministers," he said.

"It would be interesting to go over the ministers of Canada, the United States or any other country and see how many you could put your hand over your heart and swear they had never committed adultery."

Mr. Brown, who forecast that the New Democratic Party will form the next government in B.C., the party now is the chief opposition group in the legislature—said the character of socialism is changing.

"We no longer believe it necessary to nationalize everything. We now believe we have to plan the private sector of the economy... One doesn't want to nationalize for the sheer hell of it. It might be a better bargain for the nation to compete rather than taking over an industry."

Mr. Brown, here on a North American tour, forecast that there will be an election in Britain within a year and his party will win it.

Kurd Leader Flees

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Iraqi President Abdul Salam Aref claimed Thursday night that the Kurdish rebel leader, Mullah Mustafa Barzani, has fled to the Iranian border.

CLAIMS COMMISSION TO BE ESTABLISHED

Fair Deal Pledged Canada's Indians

WINNIPEG (CP) — A new era of justice, freedom of choice and human dignity was pledged Thursday night by Immigration Minister Favreau for Canada's 210,000 Indians.

He gave the undertaking in his capacity as superintendent-general of Indian affairs in a speech to the third annual conference of the National Indian Council of Canada. He elaborated on the government's decision to establish an Indian claims commission.

The commission, he said, will assess and settle all Indian claims and grievances against the federal government in a just and equitable manner.

Mr. Favreau, a French-Canadian member of the cabinet, gave this pledge to Indians: "As a member of a proud minority group which, like yours, refused to die and never gave up its struggle, you will perhaps accept this assurance of my firm determination to ensure that justice, freedom of choice and human dignity are the enshrined principles of the administration of Indian affairs. In striving for this goal I trust that I shall have your confidence and the benefit of your representations and recommendations."

"I should expect that the commission will not be bound by strict legal rules of evidence."

Joins Husband

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Mrs. Georges Bidault has arrived here to join her husband, one-time French premier, who is wanted in France on charges of plotting to kill President de Gaulle. Bidault was granted asylum in Brazil last April.

although it should have the powers of a court for the purpose of summoning witnesses and the production and inspection of documents.

"It is proposed that the commission be authorized to hear all claims referred to it by the government, as well as such claims as may be made before it by Indian bands or other identifiable groups of Indians."

Mr. Favreau said he hopes that the commission will help restore complete confidence of Indians in the Indian affairs branch, "whose unfailing devotion to their welfare and progress merits the highest commendation."

THE CARLING BREWERIES (B.C.) LIMITED

Health Officer Probes Weedkiller Use

COURTENAY—The district health officer will investigate the spraying of weedkiller near a water supply intake at Buckley Bay.

The chemical was sprayed by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority crews last week.

Gregory Sawchuk, 15, tasted the water Saturday and found it distasteful and told his parents. Investigation showed that there had been spraying near the intake.

Ivor Tucker, transmission superintendent for Hydro, said the chemical was sprayed from tank trucks to kill alder and maple along a power line and some must have been sprayed near the intake.

Dr. G. A. Gibson, district health officer, said he supposed any substance of this sort is dangerous but he would make no statement pending investigation.

Some members of four families who drank water that came from the intake reported minor discomfort which disappeared when they secured their water elsewhere.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Comox MLA Dan Campbell will meet Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi Monday to discuss the proposed over-pass at the Jungle Pot-Island Highway intersection near Wellington.

Mr. Campbell would make no comment today on why the overpass has not yet been built to safeguard children travelling to and from Mount Benson School.

He admitted he promised mothers of children at Mount Benson School last June that the overpass would be built before school re-opens in September.

"I did make the promise," he said. "But as far as I'm concerned any statement about this overpass is going to come from the department of highways."

CAMPBELL RIVER—An experiment with educational TV at Cedar School last year has won the backing of the board of trustees.

On hearing of the success of the program from Principal E. W. Hilsden, the board has approved erection of a TV mast and antenna on the school and purchase of a 21-inch receiver.

Programs are provided by the CBC in conjunction with UBC. The school board will discuss the project with other school principals in the area with a view to making further installations.

PARKSVILLE—Winner of the top award at the Parksville and District Garden Club flower.

fruit and vegetable show was Mrs. T. R. Richardson of Nanaimo Bay.

She won the Centennial Challenge trophy for the second successive year, and also the Garden Club prize for having the most points in the vegetable and fruit section.

The show, held in the Legion Hall, was the 12th annual event staged by the club.

LAKE COWICHAN—Ten local girls will compete at the annual regatta sponsored by the Lake Cowichan Kiwanis Club, August 25, for the title of "Lady of the Lake."

The queen and two princesses will be chosen from the following: Anna Lynn Ehrstien, Linda Mair, Darleen Kidds, Sylvia Sanrud, Janice Thompson, Ingrid Schabernak, Diane Lindstrom, Beverley Nimmo, Barbara Jean Major and Joanne Akiyama.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Architects have been asked to revise drawings for the four-sheet curling rink, to permit more realistic bids. Revisions are expected to be completed next week and tenders for construction awarded by the end of the month.

Negotiations are proceeding on a method of financing rink construction, as an alternative to a debenture scheme.

The Campbell River and District Winter Club is now an official organization, and has been registered under the Societies Act.

Naked Visitor Case Results In Acquittal

Evidence of a naked interloper removing an infant from its crib was climaxed in Victoria county court Thursday—with acquittal.

Because of a "reasonable doubt" as to his intentions, Errol Tucker, 26, was acquitted on a charge of being unlawfully in a dwelling house with intent to commit an indictable offence.

But he received a stern warning to be careful of his drinking habits in future.

Earlier, David Eric Sands, 3101 Yew Street, testified that when he entered the bedroom of his three-year-old son after midnight on June 14, he saw a naked man standing by the cot with the child in his arms.

MAN RAN AWAY

He said the man then handed the boy to Mrs. Sands and ran out.

Judge S. J. Remnant accepted Tucker's defence that he had been drinking and did not remember anything of what happened.

He said there was a reasonable doubt as to Tucker's intention to commit an indictable offence (which could be kidnapping or assault on the child).

"I must express strong condemnation of the accused's drinking habits," the judge added, "and warn him that the evidence given here could be used against him in any future offence."

DRUNKENNESS REDUCES INTENT

Crown prosecutor R. Dutton Walker said that the accused, in order to rebut the presumption of an indictable offence, must show he was either insane or drunk at the time.

Judge Remnant said the fact Tucker had no previous criminal record was in his favor.

Constable Andrew M. Bell told of taking Tucker to city police station after his arrest and asking him if he wished to make a statement.

"The accused broke down and sobbed and the words he used were hardly audible," the constable said. "He simply asked for his father."

Defence counsel Alan Bigelow said Tucker was too drunk to recall what had happened. He remembered nothing from the time he left the Tally-Ho Travelodge at 7 p.m. until he came to in the city jail at 6 the following morning.

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Mr. Sands told of chasing the naked man after he ran from his house at 3101 Yew Street. The fleeing man was still nude and barefooted.

When Mr. Sands caught up with him and asked him what he was doing in the house, he replied: "Help me get dressed."

"He appeared to be stunned and kept mumbling words I could not hear," Mr. Sands said.

When arrested, Tucker was wearing a shirt and pants, but another pair of pants, found behind a large oak tree, contained a wallet with his name inside.

Judge Remnant complimented defence counsel Bigelow and crown counsel R. Dutton Walker on their "very fair-minded arguments."

SUB POST OFFICE NEEDED

Mound of letters has been built up in the last three days, and all the mail is for Keith Barker, badly-burned Campbell River youngster isolated in St. Joseph's Hospital. Sifting the mail are his parents, Bill and Nancy Barker, and 11-year-old sister, Shelly. Keith will be there another two months. (Ryan Bros. photo.)

Postman Always Knocks Often For Lonely, Burned Youngster

By LESLIE MILLIN

Keith Barker's parents sat in St. Joseph's Hospital today with proof of human kindness stacked all around them.

Letters—some from as far away as Montreal—were piled high in a small waiting room, along with cards and parcels.

They all arrived since a Times story Wednesday asked people to write to Keith, a Campbell River nine-year-old isolated with bad burns in a hospital room.

He can have no visitors but his parents, who can only come to Victoria to see him when his father Bill gets time off from the mill in which he is a splitterman.

HOW KIND FOLKS ARE

"It really shows you just how kind folks can be," said Mrs. Barker as she sifted through bundles of letters.

Tucked into some of the letters were $5 and $10 bills. The Barkers have found the going a little rocky in the five months that Keith has been in hospital.

He was taken there March

2 after a gasoline explosion that burned his back badly, and has another two months of skin grafts ahead of him.

With their savings gone and their debts mounting, his parents had to miss one weekend visit—they just couldn't make the family pay cheque go that far.

But they have been given free accommodation at the Douglas Hotel, and the B.C. Federation of Labor has started a fund to help them out.

They know they're not alone. The people of Victoria and Vancouver Island have proved it.

YOUTH WANTS TO KICK HABIT —ASKS HELP

A 17-year-old youth who likes to steal black Chevrolet cars asked in city magistrate's court today for psychiatric help.

William Quebec pleaded guilty to stealing two of them in Victoria on two successive days. Court was told he had been released on parole from Saskatchewan Penitentiary less than a month before.

He served part of a sentence in jail for car theft. The vehicle involved then was also a black Chevrolet.

The youth appeared at first in juvenile court and was then ordered to stand trial in magistrate's court.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded him to Aug. 23 for a probation and psychiatric report before sentence.

FOR ACTIVITIES

Students Tax Selves Another $6

University of Victoria students today won a six-month battle to tax themselves an extra $6 per student each year.

Dr. W. H. Hickman said today that Alma Mater Society fees, which finance student activities, will be raised from $24 to $30 for the coming session.

Fee for the academic course remains unchanged at $322, bringing the total fee to $353 per student.

Students voted last spring to raise the fees, but the then-Victoria College council would not allow the increase, which the students said was needed to finance expanded student activities.

Monday evening, the board of governors reversed the decision.

TOWARD BUILDING

Two-thirds of the $30 fee is used to support athletic, social and recreational programs of the students, and the other $10 is paid into the university development fund in payment for the recently-built Student Union Building.

"We are very pleased," said student council president Larry Devlin.

"We consider this an act of fairness on the part of the board of governors, which sets a good atmosphere for the first year of the University of Victoria."

Curb on Dole Facing Defeat

Black Expecting Move by Ottawa

By JOHN MIKA

Courtenay Mayor William Moore's campaign to force able-bodied jobless men to work for welfare assistance appeared headed for defeat today.

But he told The Times he hopes to win by compelling a policy change in the federal government's refusal to help finance municipal "work-for-welfare" schemes.

Mayor Moore said his council has no intention of "paying the full shot" for the welfare cheques issued only to those who will work in developing a new city park.

(B.C. municipalities pay only 10 per cent of welfare cheques to unemployed employables. The federal government pays 50 per cent and the provincial government 40 per cent.)

Mayor Moore said so far three welfare cheques have been issued to men who have agreed to work two days next week in the city park.

YOUNG SOLDIERS training at Albert Head will be inspected Monday by Major-General J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding, Western Command. On Tuesday, they will parade for the general at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads. This will mark the end of the summer training plan for 200 soldiers from militia units throughout B.C.

WHY DID HE DIE?

An autopsy likely will be held to find the exact cause of death of Frank A. Gibbons, 45, 1045 Esquimalt Road, who was injured in an explosion at Rocky Point Arsenal June 17.

He died in St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday, after being reported in fairly good condition and recovering a few days after the blast.

He was carrying out a routine explosives test at the time of the accident.

A lengthy naval inquiry into the accident is continuing, with results of preliminary departmental findings forwarded to Ottawa for further evaluation.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Hayward's.

Mr. Gibbons is survived by the widow, Margaret, two sons, Michael George and Frank Anthony, and one daughter, Marie Annette, and one sister, Mrs. Annette Gareau, Montreal.

Private Service

Private funeral service for John Ivory Spelman, who retired more than a decade ago as caretaker of the city's MacDonald Park, will be held Sunday. He died Wednesday at the age of 79.

Survivors include two sons, Jack of Victoria and Desmond of Parksville; and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Morrow of Victoria and Mrs. E. A. (Flora) Moore of Victoria.

TOPICS of the DAY

First meeting of the University of Victoria senate was held Thursday evening to discuss "internal matters of the university," a spokesman said today.

It lasted an hour and a quarter, and "will probably be the shortest on record," he said.

A game warden this morning was investigating a report that a cougar had been sighted late Thursday in John Dean Park.

In recent weeks there have been several reports of cougars on Southern Vancouver Island. None of the reports have been confirmed, however, and police are inclined to be sceptical.

Two overnight break-ins were reported by city police. At Beacon Drive in 125 Douglas, thieves gained entry by forcing open a serving hatch window without breaking it. Missing is some money from a cigarette vending machine.

About $25 was stolen from Home Service Station, Gorge and Douglas. Entry here was made by breaking a window above a door.

A nine-year-old Esquimalt boy is reported to be in fairly good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after being involved in an accident this morning in the 700 block Rockheights.

Glen Mofford, 1204 Rockcrest, received a broken leg in the accident.

Police have not released the name of the driver involved.

SECOND D-E ENDS REFIT FOR 'COPTERS

The RCN Pacific Command destroyer escort St. Laurent returned to Esquimalt under tow Thursday after a major conversion at Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., North Vancouver.

She had a helicopter deck, hanger, and variable depth sonar added. She is the second Canadian destroyer to be modernized, following HMCS Assiniboine.

St. Laurent's refit will be completed at HMC Dockyard, and she will be commissioned back into the fleet Oct. 4.

Minna Loomer and Howard Price were winners of the weekly tournament conducted Thursday by Victoria Allstars' Duplicate Bridge Club.

Other winners were Ethel Cleworth and Les Stewart, second; Albert Jorgensen and Charles Cleworth, third; Eric Horwood and Sam Duprau, fourth; and Marjorie Fortye and Phil Hagel, fifth.

More Beauty For Castle

Weather outlook for the weekend looks promising to the official forecaster despite a low pressure area lurking high up in the atmosphere.

The weatherman sees warm, sunny weather today and Saturday, and probably Sunday, with temperatures in the day-time ranging from a shoreline 70 to as much as 80 in sheltered areas.

Stained Glass Windows in the tower of Craigdarroch Castle will be illuminated from the interior on Tuesday, Aug. 27, with the pressing of a switch by Mayor R. B. Wilson at 8:30 p.m.

"This will make the building stand out even more so than at present," said James Audain, president of the Society for the Maintenance and Preservation of Craigdarroch Castle.

After the ceremony, paid-up members of the society will be entertained to supper in the castle.

Current membership cards or receipts must be shown at the door. Guests will be admitted at $1 each.

Ask The Times

Q. I have been told by several persons that a snake will not cross over a rope. For example, when out camping if you put a rope around your tent you won't have to worry about a snake getting in. Is this true? E. J. D.

A. This idea originated in American folklore. It is not true.

Q. Could you tell me if Florence Lake is open to fishermen now? P.B.

A. Florence Lake, located in Langford, is closed to fishermen because Fish and Game branch officials plan to stock the lake with bass in the near future. There are no fish in the lake at present.

DEAR ABBY . . .

She's Steaming!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to blow off a little steam about the ridiculous practice of businesses that give kiddies candy suckers when they come in with their mothers. I find myself avoiding the places where this is done. I don't know of one mother who approves of it. If she refuses to let the child accept the sucker, she is "mean." If she accepts it, she is building her child's dental bill and spoiling the child's appetite for the next meal. Doctors, believe it or not, are among the worst offenders. Banks, grocery stores and shoe stores run a close second.

DEAR IRATE MOTHER (or write a note) to the "offenders" and suggest they give out balloons instead. But don't hold your breath.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and many problems have come up. My family is small. My future husband comes from a very large family. His mother gave my mother a list of 66 "close relatives" she wants invited to the wedding supper. My father says he is willing to pay OUR side of the family, but he is not feeding 66 strangers. Abby, how can I tell my future in-laws this? I am even ashamed to tell my boy friend.

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Tell your father that the bride's family pays for the wedding. If a wedding supper is too costly for your father, have a reception instead. It's nothing to be ashamed of.

DEAR ABBY: People are always so reluctant to take a loved one with a mental disorder to a psychiatrist for treatment. If they only realized what an injustice they are doing to that person! With all the wonderful drugs and treatments they have today, there's no reason for mental cases to go on living miserable lives when they could be normal and happy. Believe me, I know because we had it in our family. Mental illness sometimes takes on strange forms and is hard to recognize as such. Then, too, some people refuse to accept the truth and will admit to anything but a mental illness. I only wish we had taken the step sooner. It would have saved us a lot of unhappiness. Please pass this on to your readers, Abby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sateen gown styled with long jilly point sleeves and a scoop neckline. Peplum of the bodice ended in front with an over-panel on the skirt. Neckline, peplum and panel were all appliqued with lace. Her bouffant veil was held by a single white rose. She carried mauve and white orchids and lily of the valley on a white Bible.

Gowns of turquoise peau de sole were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. Bill Davidge, and bridesmaids, Miss Beth Lewis and Miss Shirley Naylor. They carried colonial bouquets of white chrysanthemums and carnations.

Best man was Martin de Leeuw and guests were ushered to their pews by Donald Steele, Stewart Hiltman, Rein Smit and Hans Smit.

At a reception in the Fiesta Room, Ted Butterfield proposed the toast to the bride.

Bride's travelling ensemble was a turquoise wool worsted suit, beige and black accessories and orchid corsage.

New Use for Old Product And 'Down Under' Recipe

By PENNY SAVER

Gelatin. I always thought, was used to make desserts, or stirred into a glass of milk and gulped down with a grimace in order to strengthen finger nails. But according to one Australian manufacturer of this old product, they have other uses for it "down under."

One they suggest is particularly timely. No doubt you are taking advantage of the fine days to wash some of the blankets you aren't needing on these warm nights. Well, it helps to use gelatin!

You allow one envelope of gelatin to each blanket. Put gelatin in a quarter pint of cold water; leave for three minutes; then add one pint of boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add mixture to a bath of warm, not hot, water, sufficient to cover the blanket. Soak blanket in this bath for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then rinse three or four times in plenty of warm water, squeeze, shake out and hang in the wind to dry.

While the blanket is soaking for half an hour, you'll have lots of time to produce a dessert using the same product! Just for a change, try this recipe that also comes from Australia.

It's called "Lemon Fluff" and makes enough to serve four or five people.

You place half a pound of finely granulated sugar, juice of two good sized lemons and rind of one, and yolks of two eggs (setting aside the whites) in a mixing bowl ("basin" they call it!). Dissolve two tablespoons of gelatin in a cup of boiling water. Mix together. Lastly add stiffly whipped egg whites and mix.

Place the dessert in the refrigerator until ready for use, and dash to the laundry room to rinse out that blanket!

Here's How To Increase Wardrobe But Not Budget "Dear Eunice Farmer: Please tell the college girls (who are on a limited budget) how to extend our clothing wardrobe."

SHIRLEY

Dear Shirley: This isn't a new idea but one that many of us don't think about. It is an idea that can be used for any age and has countless possibilities.

It's almost magic, the way you can transform a simple sheath dress to one that will be romantically feminine for dates and dancing.

1. Make a separate over-skirt out of embroidered organza, chiffon or any dreamy fabric. The skirt should be very, very full and I would make it just like a regular skirt, slide fastener closing and all.

2. Cover the waistband with a contrasting velvet ribbon and large tailored bow, or a velvet ribbon that ties in a soft bow at the front and falls in streamer ties.

This is really a double duty dress and your own imagination as to colors that are becoming to you, will make it your own original.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Being Underweight Can Present Problems Too

Q. "I think it's awful that you are always telling some one how to reduce! This world is made up of all kinds of people including people who would like to know how to gain weight. I do hope you can help me. I eat all the time and still don't gain weight. I have had three children and am just as small as ever. I am 5 feet, 2 inches tall and weigh 104 pounds. My legs are very skinny. My hips are wide but very bony. If you could tell me the name of some vitamins that would increase my appetite I would surely buy them."

Lowman

A. Well, if I could give you the name of vitamins which would increase your appetite, your figure could take it, but what about the budget? You tell me that you eat all the time now. I do not think that your problem is lack of appetite.

Lots of women will be envious when they read your letter because you are the same size after having three children and can eat all you wish without gaining weight. It sounds like the toe of the stocking on Christmas morning.

I do not mean to neglect my underweight readers. Actually, I write frequently during each year about underweight. However I must admit that I write more often about overweight for two reasons. In the first place, the overweights are more uncomfortable and I hear from more of them than I do from the thinner ones. Also, the danger to health and long life from overweight is now an accepted fact.

Let's get back to you. I know that lack of curves can be as important to the thin woman as getting rid of bulges is to the fat one, and in many instances gaining weight is more difficult than losing it.

I can tell you that the vitamin B family is often helpful in gaining weight. Brewer's Yeast is a rich and inexpensive source. You can buy this at a drugstore.

I picture you as a very active, rather tense person. I feel sure it will be a great help if you could possibly manage to take a few short rest periods during the day. This is a real aid when a woman wishes to gain weight. Do you have enough sleep regularly?

I would have said to you, as to all of my underweight readers, to not stuff yourself at three huge meals. Eat five smaller ones. BUT you go me one better! You eat all day long.

Swimming has wonderful benefits for the underweight because it is so relaxing. Swim during the remainder of the summer and then two or three times at your local YWCA during the winter.

promoting foods like fresh fruits and vegetables. P.S. TO YOU: If you have a small frame you are only eight pounds underweight.

Overseas Tour Receives Friendly Welcome In Ayr

By Elizabeth Forbes

Victoria's Bess McGillivray, a former secretary of the symphony society here and now travelling overseas with a St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society tour, writes enthusiastically of her first days in Scotland.

When the group landed at Prestwick, air terminal earlier this month they found John and Joan Dunbar and their children, Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Wood and Capt. and Mrs. D. J. Proudfoot waiting to give them a welcome.

Forbes

That evening some 140 members were entertained by the Proudfoots and the Dunbars to the first show in the Gaiety Theatre in Ayr in which Jock Dunbar is billed as a "celebrated bass-baritone."

The performance runs twice nightly until Oct. 15 and according to Miss McGillivray "is packed for every performance with many turned away."

LIVELY SHOW

"The whole thing is entertaining and lively," she writes, "it flows continuously and the chorus is very smartly dressed."

Later the group was entertained at the home of "Cappy" Proudfoot and his wife, who live in Ayr.

The letter writer lists those in the party besides herself as Mr. and Mrs. J. Marrs, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. B. Dysart with Edna May, Mr. and Mrs. G. Dakers and Miss Cox, all of Victoria. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Los Angeles, also Miss McAndrew and Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Victoria's Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Wood are staying in Ayr at present and Wednesday evening this week when Jock Dunbar appeared in a short charity song recital in the Exhibition Gallery of the Carnegie Library in Ayr, Mary Wood was his accompanist.

Bess McGillivray enclosed the printed program which she had been given ahead of time. It says in part: "John Dunbar, Scots-Canadian baritone, recording and TV personality, will present a special program in which he will be accompanied by Mary Wood at the piano."

A collection was taken for The Hansel Village Fund, this village being a home for retarded children.

It seems Jock Dunbar, in addition to his show appearances, is much in demand to open functions for various organizations. The first Saturday in August, soon after the Victoria party arrived in Scotland, he filled in for Sir Geoffrey Onslow, Lord Lieutenant of Ayrshire, at the opening of an exhibition of paintings of the Ayr Sketch Club, which was organized in 1901. Sir Geoffrey was ill and could not fulfil the engagement.

FOLLOWS MUSICIANS

The story that comes from members of the National Youth Orchestra, now disbanded after a successful concert tour of Western Canada, is that Lady Eaton, one of the orchestra's sponsors, postponed a European visit to come west with the young people.

Lady Eaton first heard the youth orchestra at O'Keefe Centre in Toronto, when it appeared there in July.

She was planning to leave for Europe almost immediately but was so impressed with the young musicians and so thrilled with the way they had responded to training by conductor Walter Susskind, musical director of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, she immediately postponed her overseas visit.

Instead she made plans to hear and see more of the group. Flying west, Lady Eaton and her companion, Mrs. Kay Porter, met the orchestra in the various centres where it appeared.

She was present at each concert and, when the tour ended here, was even more enthusiastic about the young musicians than when she first heard them in Toronto.

IN HER EIGHTIES

An octogenarian—by her own confession—Lady Eaton is noted for her interest in the arts and for her generous contributions to worthwhile causes.

When the youth orchestra played in Vancouver, she gave the musicians, their conductor and others who travelled with them a farewell dinner.

Each person present received a copy of her book "Memory's Wall," autographed by herself after the dinner.

This book, written only a few years ago, is filled with reminiscences of this intelligent woman's full and active life.

Mrs. K. R. Derryhouse and her children Peter, Pamela and baby Diana Marie, who came from Vancouver recently to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Walters at their Transit Road home, will return to the mainland this weekend.

Parties for Affianced Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Atkin entertained at their Wesley Drive home with a dinner for Miss Sigrid Vennberg and Mr. Glenn Hundleby. Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hundleby, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntosh, Misses Bonnie McIntosh, Janice Atkin and Pat Hundleby. A three-tier cake plate was presented to the young couple from the guests.

Last Sunday afternoon Mrs. R. Thomas and Mrs. S. C. Treise entertained with a shower in the garden at the Treise home on Heron Road, Sidney, for Miss Vennberg and Mr. Hundleby.

Corsage of pink roses was presented to the bride-elect; yellow gladioli to her mother, Mrs. O. C. Vennberg, and burnt orange gladioli to the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. Roy Hundleby.

The honor couple was seated beneath a tree from which the gifts were hung.

Later, a smorgasbord supper was served by the hostesses assisted by Misses Sharon Emery, Diane Fitzsimmons and Pat Hundleby.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Fitzsimmons, Mr. and Mrs. Don Emery, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ridley, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dick Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Thomas, Mrs. H. Forster, Mrs. E. Ingram, Mr. Karl Vennberg, Mr. Harry Elston, Misses Linda Emery, Margaret Ridley and Denise Ridley.

Mrs. Johns

Mrs. Wallace

Head Residential Division

It was announced on Thursday afternoon by John Wallace, campaign chairman of the 1963 United Appeal committee, that Mrs. T. H. Johns has been named chairman of the residential subscription division with Mrs. R. T. Wallace, the vice-chairman.

Both Mrs. Johns, wife of a leading Victoria dentist, and Mrs. Wallace, wife of the acting dean of arts and science at the University of Victoria, are well-known in the city and are active in many organizations.

Little, Miss Eileen Wilkinson and Miss Heather McDonald.

Bride-Elect Twice Feted

Miss Carole Bateman, whose marriage to John Charles Bradshaw takes place on Aug. 31, has been widely honored at recent showers.

A corsage of pink gladioli was presented to Miss Bateman, pink carnations to her mother, Mrs. J. Bateman and to mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. H. Bradshaw, at a shower in the Cook Street home of Mrs. H. West. Co-hostess was Mrs. K. Allen.

Guests were Mrs. R. Stewart, Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. R. Driver, Mrs. E. Barton, Mrs. A. Thomassen, Mrs. J. Manton, Mrs. J. Saul, Mrs. J. Coulter and the Misses Betty Barton, Lynore Blake and Norma West.

A kitchen shower was given for Miss Bateman by her maid of honor, Miss Betty Barton at her home on Derby Road. Corsages were presented to the bride-elect, her mother and mother of the groom-elect.

Other guests included Mrs. E. Bateman, Mrs. A. Rippingale, Mrs. H. West, Mrs. K. Allen, Mrs. A. Gordon, Mrs. D. Patterson, Mrs. H. South, Mrs. E. Barton and the Misses Lynore Blake, Jo Anne Dark, Judy Demers and Carol Cruickshank.

House Guest

Mrs. F. Czinkota is a visitor from Yorkton, Sask., the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Campbell, at their home on Deal Street.

Childbirth Without Fear or Pain

TORONTO (CP)—Giving birth to a child need not be an endurance test, says Mrs. Arthur James.

Mrs. James, mother of four is an advocate of natural childbirth—the theory that a mother through knowledge and physical preparation, can consciously make childbirth a painless experience.

She is chairman of the six-year-old Toronto Natural Childbirth Association, which holds prenatal classes in natural childbirth.

The theory of natural childbirth was scorned by doctors a few years ago, she says. Thirteen years ago, when she was expecting her first child, she talked to 22 doctors before she found one who would assist her in having the birth naturally.

"But slowly the tide is turning. There is a trend in obstetrics today toward less surgical interference in childbirth."

Fear causes much of the pain of labor in childbirth, said Mrs. James. In normal cases prenatal education can eliminate fear and thus lessen the tension and pain.

Natural childbirth has psychological value for the whole family, she said. "A man especially goes through an emotional crisis if he thinks his wife is having a painful, routine labor."

And a woman who has assisted at the birth of her own child feels better than ever before.

"You feel you are floating on a cloud, or could run 10 miles. You just want to pick up your baby and walk home right afterward."

"Very few natural childbirth mothers feel any after-birth depression," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. S. Smith, 1650 Broadmead Avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter Barbara Aileen, to Mr. Robert Murdoch MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. MacDonald, 2525 Roseberry Avenue, Victoria. The wedding will take place on Saturday, August 31 at 8 p.m., in St. Luke's Anglican Church. (Chapman's Photography.)

Barton-Gyselinck Vows Exchanged In St. Mary's

White gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums decorated St. Mary's Anglican Church in Oak Bay for the recent wedding of Joanne Lynne Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Trace of Victoria, and Gerald Lawrence Gyselinck, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Gyselinck, of Leoville, Sask. Rev. H. Jones officiated.

The bride chose a short gown of white nylon over taffeta that was traditionally styled with sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves. Skirt was accented by sequined sweetheart bows from the contour waistline to hemline. A coronet of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion net. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Mr. Trace gave his stepdaughter in marriage.

Bridesmaids Miss Joanne Plett and Miss Marcia Bates were gowned in ice blue crystal charm taffeta with matching jackets. They carried crescent bouquets of white chrysanthemums and ivy. Their headpieces were pillbox style with thin skirting veils. Both wore matching brooch and earring set, a gift of the bride.

Flower girl, little Miss Peggy Curran, wore a deep pink crystal charm taffeta frock and carried a colonial bouquet of small white chrysanthemums.

The groom's brother, Lorne Gyselinck, came from Leoville, Sask., to be best man. Ushers were Frank Chappell and Dave Trace.

At a reception in Olde England Inn, Stanley Hoffman proposed the toast to his niece's happiness. Her aunt, Miss A. M. Tolpott, Vancouver, was also present.

Three-tier cake on bride's table was flanked by white candles. Newlyweds are in Leoville for their honeymoon before returning to Victoria to make their home.

As a travelling outfit, the bride chose a pale green linen dress and jacket with accessories in tone and a corsage of Taisman roses.

IN THE UPLANDS

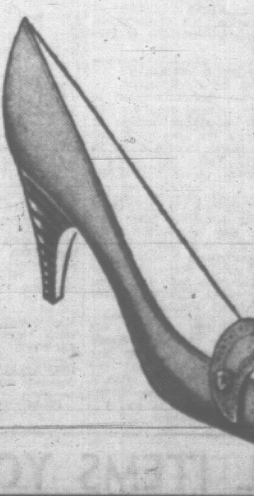

Graciousness, Dignity and Half an Acre of Privacy

I have the privilege of offering one of the finest homes in the Uplands combining features rarely found together in any one property. The selective buyer who can be seriously interested will appreciate intimate details beyond the compass of advertising space. Apart from a delectable living room, this home provides a 21-ft. morning room, or den, with fireplace, of most intriguing charm. It is a two-storey home, embracing four exceptional bedrooms, two bathrooms plus a basement toilet. The kitchen is finely appointed and modern. Maintenance, equipment, heating and all facilities are beyond reproach. The property is offered at $42,000, is clear title and can be shown by appointment only. Its seclusion precludes any possibility of a "drive-by" address.

If you can be interested, please phone Mr. Simpson EV 4-8126 • Res. GE 7-6576.

U.S. Closes Door on New Tax Easing

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. government has closed the door on any further concessions to Canada on the proposed stock-and-bond tax which comes up for examination before the House of Representatives ways and means committee next Tuesday.

Some criticism of the proposal has developed among U.S. security dealers and this likely will be aired at committee hearings.

A qualified authority said that while new Canadian security issues will be exempt from the tax, the Kennedy administration is determined that the tax will remain on outstanding Canadian issues sold to Americans during the period ending Dec. 31, 1965.

The proposed bill, as placed before the committee, empowers President Kennedy to exclude by executive order new issues of any country from the levy if it is found that the tax on that country would threaten stability of the world monetary system.

POWER NOT EXTENDED

But the bill gives the president no similar executive power on outstanding issues.

When the proposed levy of up to 15 per cent first was announced last month, the Canadian government sought special exclusions. Exemptions on new issues were promised and Finance Minister Walter Gordon said later he still hoped to get exemptions on outstanding issues as well.

The matter is likely to be discussed here at a meeting next month of the Canada-U.S. cabinet committee on trade and economic affairs, but it was suggested in informed quarters that U.S. policy is unlikely to be revised.

One probable reason is that a complete exemption for Canada would reduce effectiveness of the American plan to decrease the flow of American capital abroad and add heat to the Japanese argument that it also should be excluded.

So far, Canada is the only country that has won a firm promise of exemption from new issues.

The Canadian exemption is designed to provide Canada with sufficient U.S. funds from new issues to cover at least part of the customary Canadian deficit in international payments. The alternative might be another run on the Canadian dollar, weakening the Canadian exchange rate.

The U.S. recognizes that the impact of an international attack on the Canadian dollar tends to spread, threatening world monetary stability including that of the U.S. dollar.

In Ottawa, a senior finance department official said as far as he knew the door had not been closed to further concessions.

He pointed to a statement made by Finance Minister Gordon Aug. 7 after his return from Washington where he discussed the proposed tax with U.S. Treasury authorities. At that time Mr. Gordon said there was a possibility of further concessions.

The official said that to his knowledge the possibility still is open.

Gasoline Price Holds the Line

Price of gasoline in Victoria remains unchanged today despite an increase announced Thursday in Vancouver.

On the mainland, three gasoline companies which increased gasoline prices three weeks ago, increased them again Thursday.

Imperial Oil, Shell and British-American raised their prices 4 cents a gallon, then followed with a boost of 5 cents, both effective for the Vancouver area.

The first increase was blamed on increased federal taxes.

Of the second increase, C. L. Godard, Pacific region manager for Imperial said:

"Our profit position for the past few years has been unsatisfactory."

China Aggression Charged by Nehru

Times News Services

NEW DELHI — The Chinese Communists are making offensive probes along the Indian border and building up strength in Tibet but their intentions are not clear, Prime Minister Nehru said today.

"They might even be contemplating using these forward bases that they have been consolidating for another thrust into India," he told Parliament.

"It is difficult to gauge the Chinese intentions. That they are not exactly friendly is, however, clear . . .

"The strength of the Chinese forces along our borders today is larger than what it was at the time of the unprovoked massive attacks on October, 1962.

Nehru said Chinese ground and air incursions into India have "increased considerably particularly during the last few months."

Defence Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament all Chinese air incursions over India this year were protested, and the Chinese have answered about nine with denials.

Nehru said the Chinese had violated their declaration on border positions, made when the Chinese voluntarily halted the border war last Nov. 21.

He explained that the Chinese had said they would set up 16 civilian posts on the northeast frontier of India.

"There are today as many as 52 combined military and civil posts and even their retence of the posts being civilian in character has been given up," he said.

"It may be that, consistent with their past practice, this might be a move to justify their renewed aggression against India on the specious ground of counter-attacking in self-defence," Nehru said, adding that India must intensify her defence preparations.

Nehru also told Parliament India's offer to Pakistan of a "no-war pact" still is open.

Replying to questions, he explained that his announcement Tuesday of the withdrawal of concessions to Pakistan referred to "territorial adjustments" offered to Pakistan during the series of talks on the Kashmir problem earlier this year.

But the basic offer to Pakistan of a no-war pact still holds good, he said.

Asked about reports of mediation moves on Kashmir by the United States and Britain, Nehru said he is in frequent contact with friendly governments on subjects that include relations with Pakistan.

At the moment, there was no definite proposal he could disclose. However, India had no objection to mediation in the sense of the good offices of some person helping to find a solution.

Heroin Traffic Believed Based In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — RCMP suspect that bulk heroin is diluted in Winnipeg for illicit sale elsewhere in Canada, the Tribune says.

The story said the RCMP, which wages a constant war on drug trafficking, suspects the men of working for a national crime syndicate which may have international connections.

Heroin, according to the theory, is shipped into Winnipeg from the U.S. in bulk, diluted in inert substances such as powdered milk and sugar and sent to other Canadian cities for sale to addicts in capsules.

Carrier Damaged

HALIFAX (CP) — The navy said Wednesday a scheduled cruise to Europe by the aircraft carrier Bonaventure has been cancelled. The trip was called off because of engine-room damage caused when an oil-fired boiler exploded last Thursday.

'German Peace Pact Most Urgent Problem'

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Alexander Soldatov said Thursday the most important and most urgent problem of the day is the signing of a German peace treaty and normalization of the Berlin situation.

"We would like to settle the German problem on the basis of an agreed decision of the wartime allies," the Soviet envoy to Britain told a luncheon of U.S. correspondents.

Answering questions, Soldatov said it apparently is impossible now to solve the problem of reunification of Germany.

"This is for the Germans themselves to decide," he said. Soldatov led into this remark by stating: "You don't see a burning desire anywhere for the unification of Germany."

"It is better to face realities," he said. "The German Democratic Republic (East Germany) is a socialist state and the Federal Republic is a capitalist state."

"One cannot swallow up the other. The Warsaw Pact nations won't allow this to happen to the Democratic Republic, and I understand neither will the NATO countries allow this to happen to West Germany."

Local Carvings Win New York Exhibition

Two wood sculptures from Victoria wood carver Charles "Rudy" Seyfort have been accepted by jury judges of a large art exhibition in New York.

The carved pieces entitled the "Madonna" and "Woman and Child" are feature exhibits in the sculpture section of the Cooperstown Art Exhibition.

For Mr. Seyfort its his first entry in the large annual show which exhibits contemporary, realistic and abstract works by artists from all parts of the world.

He was thrilled with his success. "I carved the pieces out of red cedar which I consider one of the most beautiful woods, providing the grain is brought out properly," he said. "Its not easy but its worth the trouble."

The carvings competed against more than 550 works of art entered in the exhibition for selection by a jury panel. About 200 exhibits were chosen. Most of them were paintings.

TO ENTER MORE
Mr. Seyfort now plans to enter some of his wood carvings in two other large international exhibitions.

The largest of these is the 50 annual Allied Artists of America Jury Exhibition to be held in New York in October. He is entering two pieces of sculpture in this show.

The other is the Paul Waldmann Gallery show in Philadelphia which also opens this fall.

The European trained artist who lives at 2951 Phyllis, left the government's park department a year ago to devote full time to his art and teaching.

One of his most outstanding works is a large mural depicting in carved white B.C. pine the history and industry of British Columbia.

'Free' is Key Word Of World's Top Fair

TORONTO (UPI) — The Archbishop of Canterbury today opened the 85th edition of the world's largest fair, the Canadian National Exhibition. Dr. Michael Ramsey, spiritual leader of the world's 44,000,000 Anglicans, performed the "ex's" opening rite at a mid-afternoon pageant. About 10,000 persons jammed the CNE bandshell area for the ceremony, staged to the accompaniment of religious song.

Officials have added several new twists to the exhibition calculated to push this year's attendance past last year's record 3,009,500.

The key word is "free"—a free trip "into outer space," free folk festival, and free magic.

Likely to attract most attention is a "space ship," an exhibit by Ford of Canada, which will take 100 would-be astronauts on a simulated 15-minute journey through space. Models of the earth, moon, Saturn, Mars, the galaxies and man-made satellites whiz past the observation windows of the electronically-vibrated ship as the captain comments on the wonders of space.

Ethnic groups play a big part in the folk festival—a massive show called "Nation-

Prize-Winning Wood Carver, James Howes, Dies at 78

James Garnet Howes, a skilled wood-carver who had entered four exhibits in this year's Pacific National Exhibition, died Wednesday in St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Howes who was born in Metcalfe, Ont., 78 years ago, had lived at 1121 Empress Ave.

In addition to his hobby of wood-carving he was also an ardent gardener, being one of the original members of the Gladioli Society and a former member of the Victoria Horticultural Society.

Mr. Howes was active in church work, being a member of Metropolitan United Church.

Mr. Howes is survived by the widow and one son, Barton, of Merritt, B.C., and two grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 from Sands Memorial Chapel, Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James officiating.

Sues for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Peter Lorre's wife sued Thursday for divorce, claiming he was "utterly irresponsible" in financial matters. Mrs. Anne Marie Lorre, 37, charged the 58-year-old Lorre with extreme cruelty. She claims Lorre earns about $70,000 a year and that he "irresponsibly wasted and squandered or secreted" money.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Progress March Treads on City

City Centennial Square committee Thursday awarded two contracts for demolition of buildings.

The committee also authorized closing off the Government and Douglas Street entrances to Cormorant during the demolitions. But the Broad Street entrance to the Cormorant civic parking lot will remain open.

Buildings to be demolished are: the three-storey brick structure on east side of Government between Cormorant and Pandora at a cost of $2,566; and the large two-storey brick building on Cormorant adjoining the east side of the civic parking lot.

Tenders had been turned over to the committee by council.

Council awarded a $350 contract for demolition of a residence at 2306 Blanshard to clear the right of way for extension of Rose Street from Bay to the corner of Queens and Blanshard.

It also received approval from the provincial government for $75,000 borrowing bylaw to purchase the right of way and build the road.

Official notice to Max Lohbrunner, who has moored a boat alongside the city's garbage wharf for years, that he was trespassing at his own risk was approved by council.

Ald. A. I. Curtis repeated information given last week's committee meeting, when the recommendation was made, that the notice was not intended to force Mr. Lohbrunner to leave.

He said the notice was required to protect the city from any possibility it would be held legally liable should any damage occur to the trespassing vessel.

Aldermen M. H. Mooney and A. W. Toone were unsuccessful in an attempt to stall sale of a six-room caretaker's cottage on the Mountain View Home grounds for $1,275. They argued it should be rented until a better price could be obtained.

But Ald. Arthur Dowell pointed out the city wanted to clear the site to improve chances of selling it and had been unable to obtain a better price for the house's removal after almost a year of effort.

Ald. Cecil Parrott, chairman of city buildings committee, said the price "is a good one because by the time the purchaser pays for moving the building, putting up foundations and buys a lot he will have spent from $10,000 to $12,000. You just won't get a better price."

The purchase offer was made by J. E. Main, 362 Lagoon Road, as the highest of several bids last spring. It was not accepted at the time in the hopes a better offer could be obtained.

Eighteen small lots owned by the city on Quadra between Topaz and Fifth — the only area zoned for garden apartments in the city — will be consolidated along with a lane into a single parcel and offered for sale as a single or divided block, council decided.

Formal approval was given a plan to make Rose Street a southbound route only between Hillside and Queens and Blanshard Street a northbound route only between Hillside and Queens.

Soccer, Rugger Shouldering Others Off the Field

Soccer and rugger are continuing spectacular increases in popularity, city parks department's annual report showed today.

But baseball, softball, cricket, football and box lacrosse are continuing their slide downward.

A statistical summary in the report shows the number of soccer teams jumped from 54 in 1958 to 116 last year, involving an increase from 880 to 1,659 players.

On the other hand, there were 45 baseball teams in 1958 and the same number last year but the number of players dropped from 755 to 695.

The drawing power of the two sports showed the same imbalance.

A total of 27,263 persons paid to watch soccer games at Royal Athletic Park last year but only 8,697 turned up for baseball games.

All other field sports drew 2,273 paid attendance.

Mask Saves Worker

VANCOUVER (CP) — A gas mask saved a worker from serious burns Thursday when a gas main caught fire, apparently after a plug over a two-inch pipe came out. Three men were slightly burned.

Only other field sport to show growth was rugger, which had 13 teams with 260 players in 1958 and 25 teams with 495 players in 1962.

Remaining sports, with their number of teams and players in 1962 followed by the corresponding figures for 1958 in increased participation in soccer brackets, showed these declines.

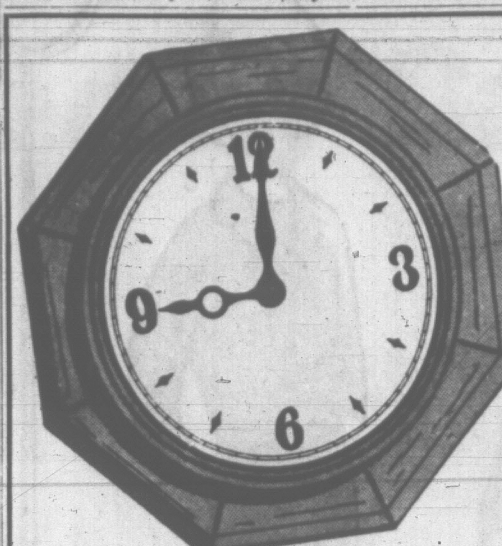

Box lacrosse 16-320 (17-364);

cricket 12-230 (16-305); football 9-148 (9-291); softball 45-688 (47-751).

"The outstanding significance of these figures is the 'er,' the report said.

"The number of players have quadrupled over the past 15 years in Victoria."

CRISES FACE U.S., EVANGELIST WARNS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The entire human race has a sword of Damocles hanging by a hair over its head. "Sooner or later," he said, "a crisis far worse than Cuba will put us all to sterner tests than Americans have ever endured."

"The racial crisis in America is getting worse. Our debts are getting bigger. In foreign affairs, we are facing the awesome and growing power of Communist China."

Local Carvings Win New York Exhibition

Two wood sculptures from realistic and abstract works by artists from all parts of the world.

He was thrilled with his success.

"I carved the pieces out of red cedar which I consider one of the most beautiful woods, providing the grain is brought out properly," he said. "It's not easy but it's worth the trouble."

The carvings competed against more than 550 works of art entered in the exhibition for selection by a jury panel. About 200 exhibits were chosen. Most of them were paintings.

Mr. Seyfort now plans to enter some of his wood carvings in two other large international exhibitions.

The largest of these is the 50 annual Allied Artists of America Jury Exhibition to be held in New York in October. He is entering two pieces of sculpture in this show.

The other is the Paul Waldmann Gallery show in Philadelphia which also opens this fall.

The European trained artist who lives at 2951 Phyllis, left the government's park department a year ago to devote full time to his art and teaching.

One of his most outstanding works is a large mural depicting in carved white B.C. pine the history and industry of British Columbia.

'Free' is Key Word Of World's Top Fair

TORONTO (UPI)—The Archbishop of Canterbury today opened the 85th edition of the world's largest fair, the Canadian National Exhibition.

Dr. Michael Ramsey, spiritual leader of the world's 44,000,000 Anglicans, performed the "ex's" opening rite at a mid-afternoon pageant. About 10,000 persons jammed the CNE bandshell area for the ceremony, staged to the accompaniment of religious song.

Officials have added several new twists to the exhibition calculated to push this year's attendance past last year's record 3,009,500.

The key word is "free"—a free trip "into outer space," free folk festival, and free magic.

Likely to attract most attention is a "space ship," an exhibit by Ford of Canada, which will take 100 would-be astronauts on a simulated 15-minute journey through space. Models of the earth, moon, Saturn, Mars, the galaxies and man-made satellites whiz past the observation windows of the electronically-vibrated ship as the captain comments on the wonders of space.

Ethnic groups play a big part in the folk festival—a massive show called "Nation."

Prize-Winning Wood Carver, James Howes, Dies at 78

James Garnet Howes, a skilled wood-carver who had entered four exhibits in this year's Pacific National Exhibition, died Wednesday in St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Howes who was born in Metcalfe, Ont., 78 years ago, had lived at 1121 Empress Ave. In addition to his hobby of wood-carving he was also an ardent gardener, being one of the original members of the Gladioli Society and a former member of the Victoria Horticultural Society.

Mr. Howes was active in church work, being a member of Metropolitan United Church. Mr. Howes is survived by the widow and one son, Barton, of Merritt, B.C., and two grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 from Sands Memorial Chapel, Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James officiating.

LABOR MINISTER Leslie Peterson and his deputy William Sands, left today for Richmond, Virginia, to report to the International Association of Governmental Labor Officials' convention. Mr. Peterson is chairman, industrial relations committee at week-long meeting, beginning Sunday. U.S. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz will address Wednesday banquet of 150 provincial, state and federal officers. Delegates will exchange information and seek answers to labor law problems.

Sues for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Peter Lorre's wife sued Thursday for divorce, claiming he was "utterly irresponsible" in financial matters. Mrs. Anne Marie Lorre, 37, charged the 58-year-old Lorre with extreme cruelty. She claims Lorre earns about $70,000 a year and that he "irresponsibly wasted and squandered or secreted" money.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Progress March Treads on City

City Centennial Square committee Thursday awarded two contracts for demolition of buildings.

The committee also authorized closing off the Government and Douglas Street entrances to Cormorant during the demolitions. But the Broad Street entrance to the Cormorant civic parking lot will remain open.

Buildings to be demolished are: the three-storey brick structure on east side of Government between Cormorant and Pandora at a cost of $2,566; and the large two-storey brick building on Cormorant adjoining the east side of the civic parking lot.

Tenders had been turned over to the committee by council.

Council awarded a $350 contract for demolition of a residence at 2306 Blanshard to clear the right of way for extension of Rose Street from Bay to the corner of Queens and Blanshard.

It also received approval from the provincial government for $75,000 borrowing bylaw to purchase the right of way and build the road.

Official notice to Max Lohbrunner, who has moved a boat alongside the city's garbage wharf for years, that he was trespassing at his own risk was approved by council.

Ald. A. I. Curtis repeated information given last week's committee meeting, when the recommendation was made, that the notice was not intended to force Mr. Lohbrunner to leave.

He said the notice was required to protect the city from any possibility it would be held legally liable should any damage occur to the trespassing vessel.

Aldermen M. H. Mooney and A. W. Toone were unsuccessful in an attempt to stall sale of a six-room caretaker's cottage on the Mountain View Home grounds for $1,275. They argued it should be rented until a better price could be obtained.

But Ald. Arthur Dowell pointed out the city wanted to clear the site to improve chances of selling it and had been unable to obtain a better price for the house's removal after almost a year of effort.

Ald. Cecil Parrott, chairman of city buildings committee, said the price "is a good one because" by the time the purchaser pays for moving the building, putting up foundations and buys a lot he will have spent from $10,000 to $12,000. You just won't get a better price.

The purchase offer was made by J. E. Main, 362 Lagoon Road, as the highest of several bids last spring. It was not accepted at the time in the hopes a better offer could be obtained.

Eighteen small lots owned by the city on Quadra between Topaz and Fifth — the only area zoned for garden apartments in the city — will be consolidated along with a lane into a single parcel and offered for sale as a single or divided block, council decided.

Formal approval was given a plan to make Rose Street a southbound route only between Hillside and Queens and Blanshard Street a northbound route only between Hillside and Queens.

Soccer, Rugger Shouldering Others Off the Field

Soccer and rugger are continuing spectacular increases in popularity, city parks department's annual report showed today.

But baseball, softball, cricket, football and box lacrosse are continuing their slide downward.

A statistical summary in the report shows the number of soccer teams jumped from 54 in 1958 to 116 last year, involving an increase from 880 to 1,659 players.

On the other hand, there were 45 baseball teams in 1958 and the same number last year but the number of players dropped from 755 to 695.

The drawing power of the two sports showed the same imbalance.

A total of 27,263 persons paid to watch soccer games at Royal Athletic Park last year

but only 8,697 turned up for baseball games.

Mask Saves Worker

VANCOUVER (CP) — A gas mask saved a worker from serious burns Thursday when a gas main caught fire, apparently after a plug over a two-inch pipe came out. Three men were slightly burned.

Only other field sport to show growth was rugger, which had 13 teams with 260 players in 1958 and 25 teams with 495 players in 1962.

Remaining sports, with their number of teams and players in 1962 followed by the corresponding figures for 1958 in brackets, showed these declines.

Box lacrosse 16-320 (17-364);

cricket 12-230 (16-305); foot-

45-688 (47-751).

"The outstanding significance of these figures is the cer," the report said.

"The number of players have quadrupled over the past 15 years in Victoria."

Tories Margin
SlicedProfumo Seat Held
In U.K. Byelection

Times News Service

STRATFORD ON AVON, England—The ruling Conservative party retained war minister John Profumo's seat in the Stratford district byelection Thursday but the Tory margin was greatly reduced.

Conservative Angus Maude, 50, a journalist, was elected to fill the seat left vacant when Profumo resigned from the government after he disclosed to the House of Commons that he had lied about having an affair with call girl Christine Keeler.

Official figures announced today showed that Maude was elected with a majority of 3,470 votes compared with the whopping 14,129 majority Profumo gained in the 1959 general election.

Maude polled 15,846 votes compared with 12,376 for Labor candidate Andrew Faulds, 40, a bearded movie and TV actor, and 7,622 for Liberal candidate Derek Mirfin, 33, an editor.

Farmer Miles Blair of the British and Commonwealth Party received 281 votes and pop singer David Sutch, known as Screaming Lord Sutch, who ran on a national teen-agers ticket, was last with 209.

Blair, 53, is opposed to British participation in the Common Market.

In a two-way fight in 1959, Profumo got 26,146 votes to 12,017 for Labor candidate J. Stretton.

TRADITION ALTERED

The reduced Conservative majority in a traditional Tory district did nothing to boost the hopes of Prime Minister Macmillan's government in the next general election, scheduled before October, 1964.

The outcome turned the Stratford seat from a safe Conservative place to a marginal one. Faulds and Liberal party nominee Mirfin together outdistanced the Conservative winner by 4,512 votes.

The byelection in Shakespeare's birthplace brought out an unusually high vote for a byelection in the vacation month of August. Sixty-nine per cent of the 52,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

Political observers believe the Liberals picked up most of their strength at the expense of the Conservatives.

Some political analysts took the narrow Tory win to mean that the Macmillan government had not bounced back from the bad effects of Profumo's resignation June 5. Profumo had represented the Stratford constituency since 1950.

DROP 25 PER CENT

The Conservative vote dropped by almost 25 per cent compared with 1959—from 68.5 per cent to 43.6 per cent.

The Labor party vote rose by 2.57 per cent and the Liberals who had not contested the seat since 1950, polled 21 per cent.

After the election results were announced, Maude declared: "I am very happy. I think my supporters worked wonderfully. . . . At a byelection in a three-cornered fight, the majority is bound to fall."

Maude, former editor of the Sydney Morning Herald in Australia, lost to the Labor candidate in a byelection in South Dorset last November. He was formerly a member of Parliament for the South Ealing constituency but resigned from Commons over the Suez crisis.

LOSER HAPPY

Losing Labor nominee Faulds told a crowd of 1,000 outside Stratford's town hall:

"The result, of course, is a numerical victory for Mr. Maude, but a moral victory for the Labor party. Of this there can be no possible shadow of a doubt."

The standing in the House of Commons:

Conservatives and allies, 362; Labor, 256; Liberal, 7; vacant 5.

Martial Law
Follows Fifth
Ritual SuicideViet Nam Tension
At Highest Pitch

(CP from AP-Reuters)

SAIGON, South Viet Nam—President Ngo Dinh Diem's government clamped martial law on two major Vietnamese cities today in the wake of another Buddhist suicide by fire—the third this week.

Martial law was imposed on the central Viet Nam capital of Hue, where the latest burning occurred early today, and on the coastal city of Nhatrang, where Vietnamese troops quelled a big demonstration with tear gas.

All Vietnamese in Hue except civil servants and troops were ordered to stay indoors.

Tension reached a new pitch when a 71-year-old Buddhist monk, Thich Tieu Dieu, burned himself to death at 4 a.m. in Hue's biggest pagoda. It was the fifth such ritual suicide in two months in the Buddhist campaign against the government of Diem, a Roman Catholic.

Several hundred government troops ringed the Tu Dam pagoda but did not try to enter the building, where Buddhists guarded the monk's body.

SUICIDE ORGANIZED

The burning apparently was organized by the Buddhist hierarchy. Two young Buddhists who burned themselves to death this week acted independently. The old monk announced over a loudspeaker from his pagoda Thursday night that he would commit suicide in support of Buddhist demands for civil and religious rights they claim are denied them by Diem.

Tieu Dieu also said his suicide was in protest against charges leveled against the Buddhists by Diem's politically powerful sister-in-law, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Mrs. Nhu has said repeatedly that dissident Buddhists are traitors masking under religious robes. She advocates that the government use force against them.

The Nhatrang demonstration erupted in protest against the suicide Thursday of a 29-year-old nun, Dien Hien. Several thousand Buddhists gathered in front of the railway station. Two hundred soldiers drove to the scene in fire trucks.

The latest suicides came as U.S. Ambassador Frederick Nolting Jr. left his difficult post in Saigon where he was stationed for two years.

Some observers said his remarks on departure underlined indications of a distinct cooling in the American attitude toward the Diem regime in recent weeks.

Nolting—in an airport statement—said the religious dispute should be solved as quickly as possible.

He did not mention Diem by name in the statement.

ROBBERY SUSPECTS COVER UP

Two women suspects in Britain's with coat as they were escorted into mail train theft cover their heads court at Linslade, Eng., today.

Hooded Group Charged
In Great Train Robbery

Times News Services

LINSLADE, Eng.—Five hooded figures were hustled into a small country courthouse in this tiny Buckinghamshire village today and formally charged with taking part in Britain's great train robbery or receiving part of the millions of pounds in loot.

One of the men charged with robbery, William Boal, denied the charges. But a detective told the court that Boal had told him during questioning: "I am silly to get involved with this. I should have known better."

The five suspects—William and Rene Boal, Alfred and Mary Pilgrim and Roger John Cordrey—appeared before a magistrate in this town of 2,372 persons 42 miles northwest of London. It lies four miles from Cheddington, where a gang of bandits ambushed the night mail train from Glasgow eight days ago and escaped with £2,600,000 ($7,800,000) in British currency.

The three men and two women were ordered held by the police until Aug. 24 while the nationwide hunt continued for cash and confederates.

The amount of the money recovered rose today, with a police announcement that it totaled £141,000 ($423,000).

Even a 50-per-cent cut would mean riches beyond their wildest dreams. For they are ordinary people pulled into the centre of the cops and robbers drama by twists of fortune.

The only exceptional thing about Mrs. Emily Clark and John Maris is that they know better than most how to use their eyes and ears.

Warheads Due
By End of YearBy ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Canada and the United States today entered an agreement under which U.S. nuclear weapons will be made available to Canadian forces.

The agreement was made through an exchange of notes at approximately 11 a.m. Signing for Canada was External Affairs Minister Paul Martin; U.S. signatory was U.S. Ambassador to Canada W. Walton Butterworth.

One more step—arranging of a detailed technical agreement—is necessary before the warheads will be made available to Canadian forces under North American Air Defence Command in Canada and under North Atlantic Treaty Organization Command in Europe.

It is expected the final arrangements will be completed and the weapons supplied by year's end, although Prime Minister Pearson, in making his historic announcement, refused to be pinned down to any specific period.

Today's agreement outlines the principles under which Canadian forces would have access to American nuclear warheads in event of an outbreak of hostilities. Actual terms spelling out technical arrangements for handling and controlling the warheads would be incorporated in the technical agreement, which already is being worked on by Canadian and U.S. military officials.

'HOT LINE' NEEDED

The agreement, Mr. Pearson disclosed at a press conference held immediately after release of his agreement announcement, would necessitate establishment of a "hot line" communications link between himself and President Kennedy.

This was because the nuclear agreement will provide for joint U.S.-Canada control over the warheads—no use could be made of the warheads stockpiled in Canada or at Canadian bases abroad without express approval of both U.S. and Canadian governments.

In an emergency such approval—or denial of approval—would have to be forthcoming without delay, Mr. Pearson pointed out to reporters who crowded the conference room.

LONG NEGOTIATIONS

Mr. Pearson's announcement ended three years of negotiations which were started by the former Diefenbaker government—a point which the announcement made clear at the outset.

And in his press conference the prime minister again asserted that his government, in reaching the nuclear agreement, simply was carrying out a commitment which had been made but not filled by the previous government—a lack which led directly to the "town hall" of the Diefenbaker regime.

Mr. Pearson's announcement said: "The weapons systems affected are the Bomarc 'B'; the Voodoo interceptors; the Honest John artillery rocket and the CF-104 Starfighter strike-reconnaissance aircraft."

"In accordance with the requirements of national security and with NATO practice, details (of the agreement) will not be published.

The arrangements relating to custody and control satisfactorily protect Canada's national interests and conform with the position Canada has taken internationally on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons.

U.S. CUSTODY

"When the stockpiles are established, the warheads will remain in United States custody, and for this purpose small units of United States custodial personnel will be stationed at the Canadian storage sites, at bases which will of course remain under Canadian command and control.

"With custody remaining with the United States, the arrangement does not add to the numbers of governments having nuclear weapons at their independent disposal.

"It is also to be noted that provision is made for the application at all times of the most stringent safety measures.

Finally, these nuclear warheads cannot be used operationally without the authorization of the Canadian government. Joint control is thus assured."

Of the weapons systems mentioned, the Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles are stationed at two bases, La Macaza, Quebec, and North Bay, Ontario, the Voodoo interceptors are on five bases across Canada and the Honest John rocket and Starfighters are stationed in Europe.

13 Rioters
Arrested
In Sarawak

KUCHING, Sarawak (Reuters)—Thirteen persons were arrested and several others injured in clashes with police here today during anti-Malaysia demonstrations when a United Nations "assessment" team arrived.

A spokesman said 11 persons were arrested on charges of obstruction in the demonstrations, staged as members of the UN mission drove from the airport to the city.

The team is here to make a survey of the attitude of the people of Sarawak and North Borneo to the proposed Malaysia federation.

Two others were arrested earlier on obstruction charges seven miles outside Kuching, the police spokesman said. A number of others also were arrested but were later released.

AIRPORT CLEAR

A police riot squad kept the airport area clear but between 3,000 and 5,000 persons gathered in small groups along the road.

The riot squad, carrying clubs and shields, stood shoulder to shoulder at one point.

Ottawa Kills
Moore Plan

(See Page 13)

OTTAWA—Health and welfare department says if Mayor Moore of Courtenay wishes to put people on city park payroll, he can't use federal funds to pay them.

The federal part of the aid (50% of social assistance) is for the unemployed.

If the city gives them jobs then, says Ottawa, they don't qualify for Ottawa aid.

Health and welfare officials say it boils down to the way the local community wants to treat its work force; if the community wants to provide jobs, there is no Ottawa contribution towards payroll costs—except when approved winter work projects are concerned, which is not now.

Naked Visitor Case Results In Acquittal

Evidence of a naked interloper removing an infant from its crib was climaxed in Victoria county court Thursday—with acquittal.

Because of a "reasonable doubt" as to his intentions, Errol Tucker, 26, was acquitted on a charge of being unlawfully in a dwelling-house with intent to commit an indictable offence.

But he received a stern warning to be careful of his drinking habits in future.

Earlier, David Eric Sands, 3101 Yew Street, testified that when he entered the bedroom of his three-year-old son after midnight on June 14, he saw a naked man standing by the cot with the child in his arms.

MAN RAN AWAY

He said the man then handed the boy to Mrs. Sands and ran out.

Judge S. J. Remnant accepted Tucker's defence that he had been drinking and did not remember anything of what happened.

He said there was a reasonable doubt as to Tucker's intention to commit an indictable offence (which could be kidnapping or assault-on-the-child).

"I must express strong condemnation of the accused's drinking habits," the judge added, "and warn him that the evidence given here could be used against him in any future offence."

DRUNKENNESS REDUCES INTENT

Crown prosecutor R. Dutton Walker said that the accused, in order to rebut the presumption of an indictable offence, must show he was either insane or drunk at the time.

Judge Remnant said the fact Tucker had no previous criminal record was in his favor. Constable Andrew M. Bell told of taking Tucker to city police station after his arrest and asking him if he wished to make a statement.

"The accused broke down and sobbed and the words he used were hardly audible," the constable said. "He simply asked for his father."

Defence counsel Alan Bigelow said Tucker was too drunk to recall what had happened. He remembered nothing from the time he left the Tally-Ho Travelodge at 7 p.m. until he came to in the city jail at 6 the following morning.

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Mr. Sands told of chasing the naked man after he ran from his house at 3101 Yew Street. The fleeing man was still nude and barefooted.

When Mr. Sands caught up with him and asked him what he was doing in the house, he replied: "Help me get dressed."

"He appeared to be stunned and kept mumbling words I could not hear," Mr. Sands said.

When arrested, Tucker was wearing a shirt and pants, but another pair of pants, found behind a large oak tree, contained a wallet with his name inside.

Judge Remnant complimented defence counsel Bigelow and crown counsel R. Dutton Walker on their "very fair-minded arguments."

SUB POST OFFICE NEEDED

Mound of letters has been built up in the last three days, and all the mail is for Keith Barker, badly-burned Campbell River youngster isolated in St. Joseph's Hospital. Sifting the mail are his parents, Bill and Nancy Barker, and 11-year-old sister, Shelly. Keith will be there another two months. (Ryan Bros. photo.)

By LESLIE MILLIN

Keith Barker's parents sat in St. Joseph's Hospital today with proof of human kindness stacked all around them.

Letters—some from as far away as Montreal—were piled high in a small waiting room, along with cards and parcels.

They all arrived since a Times story Wednesday asked people to write to Keith, a Campbell River nine-year-old isolated with bad burns in a hospital room.

He can have no visitors but his parents, who can only come to Victoria to see him when his father Bill gets time off from the mill in which he is a splinterman.

HOW KIND FOLKS ARE

"It really shows you just how kind folks can be," said Mrs. Barker as she sifted through bundles of letters.

Tucked into some of the letters were $5 and $10 bills. The Barkers have found the going a little rocky in the five months that Keith has been in hospital.

He was taken there March

2 after a gasoline explosion that burned his back badly, and has another two months of skin grafts ahead of him.

With their savings gone and their debts mounting, his parents had to miss one weekend visit—they just couldn't make the family pay cheque go that far.

But they have been given free accommodation at the Douglas Hotel, and the B.C. Federation of Labor has started a fund to help them out.

They know they're not alone. The people of Victoria and Vancouver Island have proved it.

YOUTH WANTS TO KICK HABIT—ASKS HELP

A 17-year-old youth who likes to steal black Chevrolet cars today for psychiatric help.

William Quebec pleaded guilty to stealing two of them in Victoria on two successive days. Court was told he had been released on parole from Saskatchewan Penitentiary less than a month before.

He served part of a sentence in jail for car theft. The vehicle involved then was also a black Chevrolet.

The youth appeared at first in juvenile court and was then ordered to stand trial in magistrate's court.

FOR ACTIVITIES

Students Tax Selves Another $6

University of Victoria students today won a six-month battle to tax themselves an extra $6 per student each year.

Dr. W. H. Hickman said today that Alma Mater Society fees, which finance student activities, will be raised from $24 to $30 for the coming session.

Fee for the academic course remains unchanged at $322, bringing the total fee to $353 per student.

Students voted last spring to raise the fees, but the then-Victoria College council would not allow the increase, which the students said was needed to finance expanded student activities.

Monday evening, the board of governors reversed the decision.

TOWARD BUILDING

Two-thirds of the $30 fee is used to support athletic, social and recreational programs of the students, and the other $10 is paid into the university development fund in payment for the recently-built Student Union Building.

"We are very pleased," said student council president Larry Devlin.

Curb on Dole Facing Defeat

Black Expects Move by Ottawa

By JOHN MIKA

Courtenay Mayor William Moore's campaign to force able-bodied jobless men to work for welfare assistance appeared headed for defeat today.

But he told The Times he hopes to win by compelling a policy change in the federal government's refusal to help finance municipal "work-for-welfare" schemes.

Mayor Moore said his council has no intention of "paying the full shot" for the welfare cheques issued only to those who will work in developing a new city park.

(B.C. municipalities pay only 10 per cent of welfare cheques to unemployed employables. The federal government pays 50 per cent and the provincial government 40 per cent.)

Mayor Moore said so far three welfare cheques have been issued to men who have agreed to work two days next week in the city park.

Ottawa Won't Yield—Black

But in a guarded statement B.C. Welfare Minister Wesley Black pointed out the federal government has indicated it will insist welfare recipients be not compelled to work for the assistance.

In 1960 a similar work-for-welfare program in Haney and other Fraser Valley municipalities collapsed after the federal government refused to continue its grant. This precedent appeared to back up Mr. Black's warning.

Mayor Moore said the 1960 precedent was made by a Progressive Conservative government and he was sure the Liberal administration would change it.

A former CC-FMLA who ran unsuccessfully as a Liberal candidate in the federal election last spring, Mayor Moore said he has written Health and Welfare Minister Judy La

Marsh to find out if the government will refuse to pay its grant.

"If this is the position of the federal government, then it's time we changed the government—and I say that as a former Liberal candidate," he said.

Mayor Moore estimated that "about 10 men" currently out of work could be affected by his campaign.

He said the city had no money to develop a seven-acre park included in a land assembly project financed by a federal-provincial-municipal agreement.

"We've got lots of work in that park for these men. There's no end to it. After it's finished, I have my eye on a number of other projects where we could use these men."

'He Who Pays the Piper ...'

A provincial welfare department official pointed out that it was a case of "he who pays the piper calls the tune."

Courtenay could legally require welfare cases to work for their assistance if the city paid the assistance. But so long as it took the federal government's money, it had to abide by the attached conditions.

City welfare administrator William Hooson said that his office, and most other municipal welfare offices, have for years cut off payments to proven deadbeats "but on a selective basis only—not across the board as Courtenay is attempting."

He said all unemployed employables here—now totalling 56 single persons and 49 families, down from 90 single and 53 families cases last January, and the peak of 230 single and 67 families cases registered in December, 1961—had to make bona fide efforts to obtain work.

If a man turned down more than one job opportunity which he was capable of filling, without a good reason, "we just lower the boom and cut off his payments," said Mr. Hooson.

"But this happens infrequently because it isn't very often that there are that many jobs around and secondly you have to be fair and make sure that the man is capable of doing the work. It's not every 50-year-old man, especially if he's been an office worker, who can go berrypicking all day."

Mr. Hooson and other city officials indicated they felt an arbitrary decision to require all applicants to fill a specific job in return for welfare assistance could result in worsening rather than improving the problem.

Aid. A. W. Toone said it would be better to use the same money through winter work or other public works programs to provide normal jobs for the unemployed.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell agreed with several other mayors who said they endorsed Courtenay's objective of ending community support for deadbeats but felt the method used could be wrong.

YOUNG SOLDIERS training at Albert Head will be inspected Monday by Major-General J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding, Western Command. On Tuesday, they will parade for the general at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads. This will mark the end of the summer training plan for 200 soldiers from militia units throughout B.C.

WHY DID HE DIE?

An autopsy likely will be held to find the exact cause of death of Frank A. Gibbons, 45, 1045 Esquimalt Road, who was injured in an explosion at Rocky Point Arsenal June 17.

He died in St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday, after being reported in fairly good condition and recovering a few days after the blast.

He was carrying out a routine explosives test at the time of the accident.

A lengthy naval inquiry into the accident is continuing, with results of preliminary departmental findings forwarded to Ottawa for further evaluation.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Hayward's.

Mr. Gibbons is survived by the widow, Margaret, two sons, Michael George and Frank Anthony, and one daughter, Marie Annette, and one sister, Mrs. Annette Gareau, Montreal.

Private Service

Private funeral service for John Ivory Spelman, who retired more than a decade ago as caretaker of the city's MacDonald Park, will be held Sunday. He died Wednesday at the age of 79.

Survivors include two sons, Jack of Victoria and Desmond of Parksville; and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Morrow of Victoria and Mrs. E. A. (Flora) Moore of Victoria.

TOPICS of the DAY

First meeting of the University of Victoria senate was held Thursday evening to discuss "internal matters of the university," a spokesman said today. It lasted an hour and a quarter, and "will probably be the shortest on record," he said.

A game warden this morning was investigating a report that a cougar had been sighted late Thursday in John Dean Park.

In recent weeks there have been several reports of cougars on Southern Vancouver Island. None of the reports have been confirmed, however, and police are inclined to be sceptical.

Two overnight break-ins were reported by city police. At Beacon Drive In, 126 Douglas, thieves gained entry by forcing open a serving hatch window without breaking it. Missing is some money from a cigarette vending machine.

About $25 was stolen from Home Service Station, Gorge and Douglas. Entry here was made by breaking a window above a door.

A nine-year-old Esquimalt boy is reported to be in fairly good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after being involved in an accident this morning in the 700 block Rockheights.

Glen Mofford, 1204 Rockcrest, received a broken leg in the accident.

Police have not released the name of the driver involved.

SECOND D-E ENDS REFIT FOR 'COPTERS

The RCN Pacific Command destroyer escort St. Laurent returned to Esquimalt under tow Thursday after a major conversion at Burrard Dry Dock Ltd., North Vancouver.

She had a helicopter deck, hanger, and variable depth sonar added. She is the second Canadian destroyer to be modernized, following HMCS Assiniboine.

St. Laurent's refit will be completed at HMC Dockyard, and she will be commissioned back into the fleet Oct. 4.

Minna Loomer and Howard Price were winners of the weekly tournament conducted Thursday by Victoria Allmaste's Duplicate Bridge Club. Other winners were Ethel Cleworth and Les Stewart, second; Albert Jorgensen and Charles Cleworth, third; Eric Horwood and Sam Duprau, fourth; and Marjorie Fortye and Phil Hagel, fifth.

More Lights For Castle

Weather outlook for the weekend looks promising to the official forecaster despite a low pressure area lurking high up in the atmosphere.

The weatherman sees warm, sunny weather today and Saturday, and probably Sunday, with temperatures in the daytime ranging from a shoreline 70 to as much as 80 in sheltered areas.

Stained glass windows in the tower of Craigdarroch Castle will be illuminated from the interior on Tuesday, Aug. 27, with the pressing of a switch by Mayor R. B. Wilson at 8:30 p.m.

"This will make the building stand out even more so than at present," said James Auldain, president of the Society for the Maintenance and Preservation of Craigdarroch Castle.

After the ceremony, paid-up members of the society will be entertained to supper in the castle.

Current membership cards or receipts must be shown at the door. Guests will be admitted at $1 each.

Ask The Times

Q. I have been told by several persons that a snake will not cross over a rope. For example, when out camping if you put a rope around your tent you won't have to worry about a snake getting in. Is this true? E. J. D.

A. This idea originated in American folklore. It is not true.

Q. Could you tell me if Florence Lake is open to fishermen now? P.B.

A. Florence Lake, located in Langford, is closed to fishermen because Fish and Game branch officials plan to stock the lake with bass in the near future. There are no fish in the lake at present.

MASS RESCUE FOR TRAPPED MAN

... Cops, Doctors, Firemen

Henry Longaz got his foot caught in an ice conveyor screw Thursday afternoon, and it took more than an hour to free him.

"It felt like more than a year," he said today, recalling his agony.

He is in the Royal Jubilee Hospital recovering from a badly cut right foot.

Mr. Longaz, 33, of 2532 Government, was working in the ice room at Oaklands Industries, 1306 Wharf, on Thursday afternoon. He's been there three years.

"I'd just sent two loads of ice downstairs," he said, "and my foot slipped."

"I've never seen so many people in my life—cops, firemen, doctors, nurses..."

There were, in fact, two policemen, four firemen, two workmen, and a doctor in attendance at the scene.

They had an arsenal of equipment needed to free the man—a hydraulic jack, a chain saw, a crowbar, and a cutting torch.

The two constables were first on the scene, and found his foot was too solidly jammed for them to move it. They called the fire department.

Fireman Robert McKean cut a steel bracket with a torch, then tried to push apart a wooden frame with a hydraulic jack to free the foot.

The fireman sawed the frame apart with a chain saw, the doctor gave Mr. Longaz morphine, and the two workmen shovelled crushed ice away from the trapped man all the while.

"There's usually a grating on the machine," said Mr. Longaz, "but it was removed because it was plugged with ice."

No bones were broken, and Mr. Longaz is resting comfortably.

New Rule Speeds Up Ball Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Fewer walks and faster games appear to be the result of the expanded strike zone in both major leagues, according to a survey by baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

The survey, made with three-fourths of the 1963 season over, showed National League games are ending 11 minutes earlier than last season. American League games are taking 10 minutes less.

City Tennis Juniors Win Matches

OTTAWA—Victorians Don McCormick and Theodora Booker won their matches today in the Canadian junior closed tennis championships.

M McCormick, second seeded in the 18-and-under singles, beat Dave Urse, Toronto, 6-3, 6-2. Miss Booker, top seeded in the 14-and-under, won from Stephanie Brunelle, Montreal, 6-1, 6-1.

Winnipeg to Try Sunday Football

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Sunday football will get a trial run here this fall. Winnipeg Blue Bomber president Karl Wintermute announced today that the defending Grey Cup champions will meet the B.C. Lions on Sunday, Oct. 27. The game had been scheduled for a day earlier, but the date conflicted with a band concert.

Canada, U.S. Sign N-Arms Treaty

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Canada and the United States today entered an agreement under which U.S. nuclear weapons will be made available to Canadian forces.

The agreement was made through an exchange of notes at approximately 11 a.m. Signing for Canada was External Affairs Minister Paul Martin; U.S. signatory was U.S. Ambassador to Canada W. Walton Butterworth.

One more step—arranging of a detailed technical agreement—is necessary before the warheads will be made available to Canadian forces under North American Air Defence Command in Canada and under North Atlantic Treaty Organization Command in Europe.

It is expected the final arrangements will be completed and the weapons supplied by year's end, although Prime Minister Pearson, in making his historic announcement, refused to be pinned down to any specific period.

Today's agreement outlines the principles under which Canadian forces would have access to American nuclear warheads in event of an outbreak of hostilities. Actual terms spelling out technical arrangements for handling and controlling the warheads would be incorporated in the technical agreement, which already is being worked on by Canadian and U.S. military officials.

HOT LINE NEEDED

The agreement, Mr. Pearson disclosed at a press conference held immediately after release of his agreement announcement, would necessitate establishment of a "hot line" communications link between himself and President Kennedy.

This was because the nuclear agreement will provide for joint U.S.-Canada control over the warheads—no use could be made of the warheads stockpiled in Canada or at Canadian bases abroad without express approval of both U.S. and Canadian governments.

In an emergency such approval—or denial of approval—would have to be forthcoming.

ing without delay, Mr. Pearson pointed out to reporters who crowded the conference room.

LONG NEGOTIATIONS

Mr. Pearson's announcement ended three years of negotiations which were started by the former Diefenbaker government—a point which the announcement made clear at the outset.

And in his press conference the prime minister again asserted that his government, in reaching the nuclear agreement, simply was carrying out a commitment which had been made but not filled by the previous government—a lack which led directly to the 'downfall of the Diefenbaker regime.

Mr. Pearson's announcement said: "The weapons systems affected are the Bomarc 'B', the Voodoo interceptors; the Honest John artillery rocket and the CF-104 Starfighter strike-reconnaissance aircraft.

"In accordance with the requirements of national security and with NATO practice, details (of the agreement) will not be published.

The arrangements relating to custody and control satisfactorily protect Canada's national interests, and conform with the position Canada has taken internationally on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons.

U.S. CUSTODY

"When the stockpiles are established, the warheads will remain in United States custody, and for this purpose small units of United States

Martial Law

Follows Fifth

Ritual Suicide

Viet Nam Tension

At Highest Pitch

(CP from AP-Reuters)

SAIGON, South Viet Nam—President Ngo Dinh Diem's government clamped martial law on two major Vietnamese cities today in the wake of another Buddhist suicide by fire—the third this week.

Martial law was imposed on the central Viet Nam capital of Hue, where the latest burning occurred early today, and on the coastal city of Nhatrang, where Vietnamese troops quelled a big demonstration with tear gas.

All Vietnamese in Hue except civil servants and troops were ordered to stay indoors.

Tension reached a new pitch when a 71-year-old Buddhist monk, Thich Tieu Dieu, burned himself to death at 4 a.m. in Hue's biggest pagoda. It was the fifth such ritual suicide in two months in the Buddhist campaign against the government of Diem, a Roman Catholic.

Several hundred government troops ringed the Tu Dam pagoda but did not try to enter the building, where Buddhists guarded the monk's body.

The burning apparently was organized by the Buddhist hierarchy. Two young Buddhists who burned themselves to death this week acted independently.

The old monk announced over a loudspeaker from his pagoda Thursday night that he would commit suicide in support of Buddhist demands for civil and religious rights they claim are denied them by Diem.

Tieu Dieu also said his suicide was in protest against charges levelled against the Buddhists by Diem's politically powerful sister-in-law, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Mrs. Nhu has said repeatedly that dissident Buddhists are traitors masking under religious robes. She advocates that the government use force against them.

The Nhatrang demonstration erupted in protest against the suicide Thursday of a 29-year-old nun, Dien Hien. Several thousand Buddhists gathered in front of the railway station. Two hundred soldiers drove to the scene in fire trucks.

The latest suicides came as U.S. Ambassador Frederick Nolting Jr. left his difficult post in Saigon where he was stationed for two years.

Some observers said his remarks on departure underlined indications of a distinct cooling in the American attitude toward the Diem regime in recent weeks.

Nolting—in an airport statement—said the religious dispute should be solved as quickly as possible.

He did not mention Diem by name in the statement.

ROBBERY SUSPECTS COVER UP

Two women suspects in Britain's mail train theft cover their heads with coat as they were escorted into court at Linslade, Eng., today.

Hooded Group Charged In Great Train Robbery

Times News Services

LINSLADE, Eng.—Five hooded figures were hustled into a small country courthouse in this tiny Buckinghamshire village today and formally charged with taking part in Britain's great train robbery or receiving part of the millions of pounds in loot.

One of the men charged with robbery, William Boal, denied the charges. But a detective told the court that Boal had told him during questioning: "I am silly to get involved with this. I should have known better."

The five suspects—William and Rene Boal, Alfred and Mary Pilgrim and Roger John Cordrey—appeared before a magistrate in this town of 2,372 persons 42 miles northwest of London. It lies four miles from Cheddington, where a gang of bandits ambushed the night mail train from Glasgow eight days ago and escaped with £2,600,000 ($7,800,000) in British currency.

The three men and two women were ordered held by the police until Aug. 24 while the nation-wide hunt continued for cash and confederates.

The amount of the money recovered rose today, with a police announcement that it totalled £141,000 ($423,000).

WIDOW, FARMER DREAM OF RICHES

LONDON (AP)—A woman in hiding and a farmhand have stepped in line for the staggering £260,000 ($780,000) in reward money offered in Britain's great mail train robbery.

Even a 50-per-cent cut would mean riches beyond their wildest dreams. For they are ordinary people pulled into the centre of the cops and robbers drama by twists of fortune.

The only exceptional thing about Mrs. Emily Clark and John Maris is that they know better than most how to use their eyes and ears.

Mrs. Clark, a 57-year-old widow, lives on a quiet residential street in the south coast town of Bournemouth. She grows roses in her front yard and has the reputation of being quiet and courteous.

faces might prejudice a jury. The hoods were removed during the 10-minute hearing and revealed:

Boal and his wife Rene, parents of three young children. Mary and Alfred Pilgrim, co-owners with Mrs. Boal of a gay little florist shop at East Molesey, south of London.

Roger John Cordrey, arrested with Boal Wednesday night in the south coast town of Bournemouth after a street fight with detectives.

Cordrey and Boal were charged with robbing the train in company "with others unknown." Boal's wife and the Pilgrims were charged with receiving a total of £1,190 in stolen cash.

Cordrey and Boal both refused to admit any connection with the robbery. Police said Boal told them: "I deny the charge and I deny being concerned with it." Cordrey, when first charged at the police station, merely said: "No."

The two women both produced the money when police demanded it, but they did not say they knew it was stolen. This was the account given by Detective Inspector John Hensley in court.

Labor Slashes Former Margin

STRATFORD ON AVON, England—The ruling Conservative party retained war minister John Profumo's seat in the Stratford district by-election Thursday but the Tory margin was greatly reduced.

Conservative Angus Maude, 50, a journalist, was elected to fill the seat left vacant when Profumo resigned from the government after he disclosed to the House of Commons that he had lied about having an affair with call girl Christine Keeler.

Official figures announced today showed that Maude was elected with a majority of 3,470 votes compared with the whopping 14,129 majority Profumo gained in the 1959 general election.

Maude polled 15,846 votes compared with 12,376 for Labor candidate Andrew Faulds, 40, a bearded movie and TV actor, and 7,622 for Liberal candidate Derek Mirfin, 33, an editor.

Farmer Miles Blair of the British and Commonwealth Party received 281 votes and pop singer David Sutch, known as Screaming Lord Sutch, who ran on a national teen-agers ticket, was last with 209.

Blair, 53, is opposed to British participation in the Common Market.

In a two-way fight in 1959, Profumo got 26,146 votes to 12,017 for Labor candidate J. Stratton.

The reduced Conservative majority in a traditional Tory district did nothing to boost the hopes of Prime Minister Macmillan's government in the next general election, scheduled before October, 1964.

The outcome turned the Stratford seat from a safe Conservative place to a marginal one. Faulds and Liberal party nominee Mirfin together outdistanced the Conservative winner by 4,512 votes.

The by-election in Shakespeare's birthplace brought out an unusually high vote for a by-election in the vacation month of August. Sixty-nine per cent of the 52,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

The showing of Liberal party candidate Mirfin cheered Liberal party ranks.

Political observers believe the Liberals picked up most of their strength at the expense of the Conservatives.

Some political analysts took the narrow Tory win to mean that the Macmillan government had not bounced back from the bad effects of Profumo's resignation June 5. Profumo had represented the Stratford constituency since 1950.

The Labor party vote rose by 2.57-per cent and the Liberals who had not contested the seat since 1950, polled 21 per cent.

After the election results were announced, Maude declared: "I am very happy. I think my supporters worked wonderfully. . . . 'At a by-election in a three-cornered fight, the majority is bound to fall.'"

Maude, former editor of the Sydney Morning Herald in Australia, lost to the Labor candidate in a by-election in South Dorset last November. He was formerly a member of Parliament for the South Ealing constituency but resigned from Commons over the Suez crisis.

Losing Labor nominee Faulds told a crowd of 1,000 outside Stratford's town hall:

"The result, of course, is a numerical victory for Mr. Maude, but a moral victory for the Labor party. Of this there can be no possible shadow of a doubt."

The standing in the House of Commons:

Conservatives and allies, 362; Labor, 256; Liberal, 7; vacant 5.

Thousands Turn Out For Hawks

Thousands of Victorians lined the waterfront between Clover Point and Holland Point this afternoon to watch the RCAF's air show.

"It's a very good crowd for a weekday," said one parks official who was checking traffic.

Aircraft flypasts, aerobatic and air-sea rescue displays and a band concert were included in the 90-minute program. Police kept traffic from piling up into jams as most motorists were directed to parking areas.

Well-Known Indian Dies at 71

Martin Cooper, a life-long resident of the West Saanich Indian Reserve, died in hospital Thursday evening.

He was 71.

A well-known fisherman, he fished for many years from his boat, the Lady Esther.

He was a councillor of the West Saanich tribe for about eight years.

Surviving are the widow, at home; two brothers, George of the Songhees reserve, and Dave Elliott of the West Saanich reserve; one sister, Mabel Alkman of Victoria; four sons, Arthur, Johnny, Emmanuel and Martin, of the West Saanich reserve, and four daughters, Cecelia (Mrs. Roy Bradfield) of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; May and Stella of West Saanich, and Sister Juan Diego, of the order of the Immaculate Heart.

FUNERAL MONDAY

There also are 32 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 at the Church of Our Lady of the Assumption on West Saanich Road, followed by burial in Royal Oak Cemetery.

There will be a prayer meeting Sunday evening at 8 at Sands Funeral Home in Victoria.

OTTAWA—Health and welfare department says if Mayor Moore of Courtenay wishes to put welfare-recipients on city park payroll, he can't use federal funds to pay them.

The federal part of the aid (50% of social assistance) is for the unemployed.

If the city gives them jobs then, says Ottawa, they don't qualify for Ottawa aid.

Health and welfare officials say it boils down to the way the local community wants to treat its work force: if the community wants to provide jobs, there is no Ottawa contribution towards payroll costs—except when approved winter works projects are concerned, which is not now.

"With custody remaining with the United States, the arrangement does not add to the numbers of governments having nuclear weapons at their independent disposal.

"It is also to be noted that provision is made for the application at all times of the most stringent safety measures.

Finally, these nuclear warheads cannot be used operationally without the authorization of the Canadian government. Joint control is thus assured."

Of the weapons systems mentioned, the Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles are stationed at two bases, La Macaza, Quebec, and North Bay, Ontario, the Voodoo interceptors are on five bases across Canada, and the Honest John rocket and Starfighters are stationed in Europe.

Red Word Rejected

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today refused to accept Soviet notification that East Germany has signed the partial nuclear test-ban treaty, an authoritative source here said today.

Borneo to the proposed Malaysia federation.

Two others were arrested earlier on obstruction charges seven miles outside Kuching, the police spokesman said. A number of others also were arrested but were later released.

A police riot squad kept the airport area clear but between 3,000 and 5,000 persons gathered in small groups along the road.

The riot squad, carrying clubs and shields, stood shoulder to shoulder at one point.
